HIGHWAY ROUTE WILL BE DECIDED BY COMMISSION

Fourteen Men, Two From Each State Which Road Will Traverse, Endowed With Power to Settle All Disputed Points.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS WILL MEET VERY SOON

Federal Bureau of Good Roads Will Be Asked to Supply Three Expert Engineers to Assist in Mapping Out Route.

BY NED McINTOSH.
(Special Staff Correspondent.)

Chattanooga, Tenn., April 4.—(Special.)—Last week the Dixie highway was an imaginative possibility. Today it is a certainty, far-reaching in its ultimate results.

Not in the last decade, in the opinion of leaders of both the south and the west, has a single day's work been of more importance or endowed with more tremendous powers for development and progress than the formation of the plan for the Dixie highway and the perfecting of an organization for its construction, at the governors' conference at Chattanooga on Saturday.

The general plan of the great highway connecting the great lakes and the Florida beaches is now complete and concrete. Only details remain to be worked out. The machinery for working out these details and for proceeding with the actual construction and linking up of the highway is provided and is waiting to be set in motion.

The General Route.

Here is exactly what has been done:

The general route of the highway is settled upon as running from South Bend, Ind., on the Lincoln highway, just outside Chicago, to Indianapolis, southward to Chattanooga, thence to Atlanta and to Macon, to Jacksonville and on southward to Miami, where Miami has promised a magnificent $10,000 arch to mark the southern terminus.

There is no doubt that the highway will touch at all these points just named. Just what local routes it will take between these points are details which remain to be worked out, and, while they are of tremendous interest to the people living in the immediate territory through which the several proposed local routes run, are not of vital importance to the highway as an entity. This is realized even by the most keenly contesting sections for the local routes, and not a better evidence of the broad public spirit which entered into the deliberations of the conference can be found than that these sections were willing to leave the matter of the settlement to a commission and abide by their decision.

This commission will be composed of fourteen men, appointed two by each governor from his respective state, through which the highway will pass. These states are seven in number, and are Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee, Georgia and Florida.

Eliminate Partisanship.

All possibility of partisanship in the selection of local routes through the individual states was eliminated by the agreement that the men who are appointed from each state shall not be endowed with the power of settling alone upon the route as it passes through their respective states. The detail direction of the entire route is left to the entire commission of fourteen from all seven states to select. Florida state representatives will have as much say so upon the local direction of the route through Indiana as will the representatives of Indiana, and vice versa. This commission will hold in mind, in settling these questions, only the best results for the entire highway.

As has already been announced, Governor Slaton has appointed Clark Howell, editor of The Atlanta Constitution, and W. T. Anderson, editor of The Macon Telegraph, to represent Georgia on the commission.

Carl Fischer Honored.

The only other appointment to this commission, which has so far been announced, is one of the most important which will be announced. This is the appointment by Governor Ralston, of Indiana, of Carl Fischer, of Indianapolis, which he announced late Saturday night. His other appointment has not been made. Mr. Fischer was the originator of the idea of the Trans-Continental Lincoln highway, and was more intimately associated with the success of that highway than anyone else.

His presence upon the board of directors of the Dixie Highway association, especially in view of his wide experience in highway promotion and construction, will be of inestimable value to the Dixie highway.

As soon as the governors have completed their list of appointments of state representatives on the commission, the commission will meet and map out the details of the route which the highway will take.

These state representatives, with the seven incorporators representing the founders of the highway, will form the board of directors, which will meet in the near future and perfect the organization of the Dixie Highway association, electing officers.

Will Be Fifty Founders.

There are now twenty founders of the highway, each guaranteeing the donation of $1,000 per year until the highway is complete. This number will shortly be increased to fifty, which will mean that the highway association will be assured of $50,000 per year as a working basis.

This sum, of course, is much less than will be given by the states and counties in money, work and high roads already constructed.

Kentucky, for instance, as Governor McCreary pointed out at the conference, will spend $600,000 per year on roads in Kentucky, no small amount of which sum will be devoted to the Dixie highway through that state.

Counties all along the route have guaranteed various substantial sums

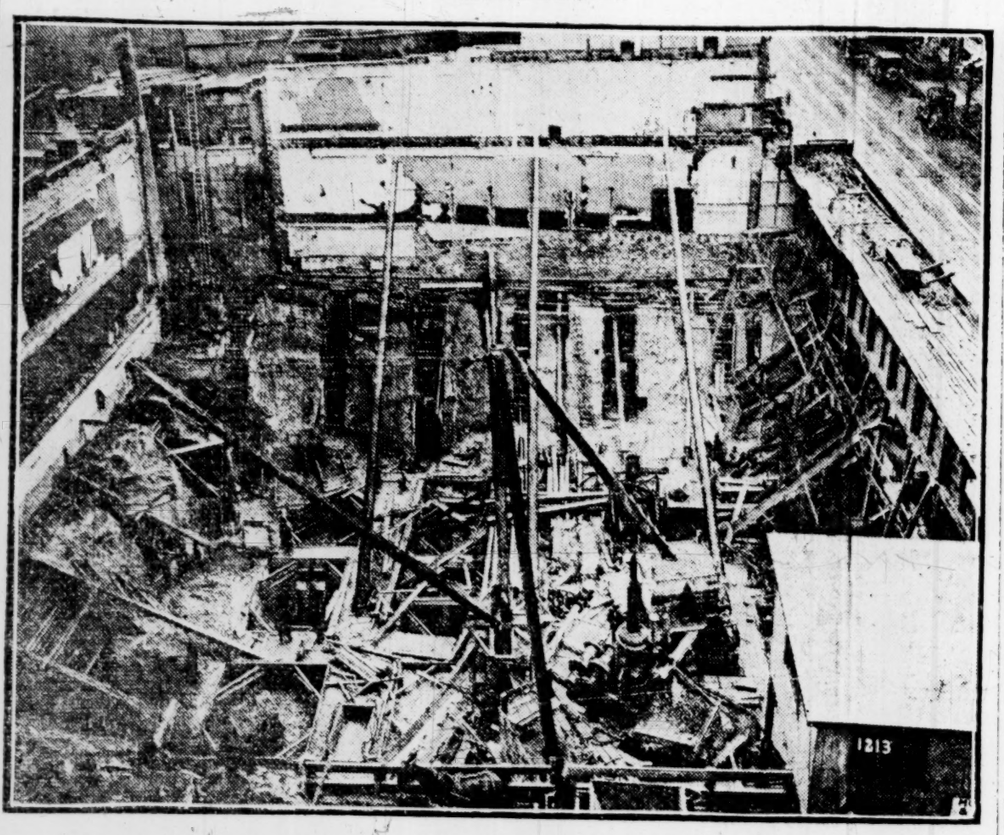
Thirty Feet Below Surface of Whitehall Street Workers Are Paving Way for Great Skyscraper



Excavation work on the new $275,000 Connally building to be erected at the corner of Whitehall and Alabama streets is shown by this picture to be well under way. The large steam pile-driver is seen at work in the center. The photograph is taken from an office on the second floor of the Atlanta National Bank building. The hole is now thirty feet beneath the surface of Whitehall street. Dr. E. L. Connally announces work will soon begin on the structure.

PROFESSOR SLATON PAINFULLY INJURED

Superintendent Bruised in Fall When Horse Shies at a Street Car.

When "Prince," a horse that is well-known to nearly all Atlanta school children, shied at a passing street car, and his hoofs slipped on the pavement, Professor William M. Slaton, superintendent of Atlanta's public schools, was painfully injured in the fall.

The accident occurred about 8 o'clock last night in front of Fire Station No. 12, corner of Moreland and DeKalb avenues, Inman Park.

The well-known Atlanta educator barely escaped death by leaping from the horse's back. His head struck the sidewalk curbstone, cutting a deep gash in it, and his left shoulder, arm and hand were badly bruised.

So painful were his injuries that he had to be removed to his home, No. 142 North Jackson street, if the police patrol, which was summoned by Call Officer John Long, who is stationed on duty at Fire Station No. 12. Officer Long was the first to reach the injured superintendent.

Dr. Claude Upshaw, who was summoned to the Slaton residence, stated that Professor Slaton would be all right again within a few days.

Crematory Hearing Costs City $2,100 For Stenographers

Testimony Already Taken Covers 7,000 Typewritten Pages, Costs of Which Will Be Divided Between City and Company.

Up to date the crematory hearing has cost the city $2,100 just for the taking down of evidence.

The hearing has been stopped because of the illness of Frank E. Callaway, master, investigating the case. It will be resumed when Mr. Callaway gets well, and just how much longer it is to last no one, neither the judge nor the lawyers on both sides seem to be able to say.

Some idea can be had of the volume of the evidence already taken when it is stated that over 7,000 typewritten pages are necessary to hold the testimony. This will cost about 60 cents a page, making a total cost to date of $4,200. Mr. Callaway has announced that no matter how the case goes, the costs are to be equally divided between the city and the New York Destructor company that built the crematory.

The company is suing the city for a balance not paid, amounting to over $100,000. The city has refused to pay, alleging that the crematory has not come up to the specifications.

Besides the thousands of dollars already incurred in costs, the case has also cost some of those connected with it very dearly from a physical and nervous standpoint. Mr. Callaway is down with nervous prostration. Councilman Claude Ashley, who was on the witness stand many days, was prostrated and became seriously ill.

RESOLVED TO DIE, HE SELECTS ROUTE OVER NIAGARA FALLS

Niagara Falls, N. Y., April 4.—An unidentified man climbed over the railing at Prospect Point late today and plunged into the river. A few seconds later he was swept over the falls. No trace of the body has been found.

Fifty persons saw the man take the plunge, but none was near enough to prevent it.

Tribute Is Paid to a "Lost Love" By Telamon Cruger Smith Cuyler In Diary Written After Marriage

Diary Found by Mrs. Cuyler, Who Divorced Atlanta Man, and Is Used by Her in Answer to Cuyler's Suit. Cuyler Mourns "Lost Love," and Says Light of His Life Is Gone.

New York, April 4.—(Special.)—A remarkable tribute to a lost love, written in the diary of Telamon Cruger Smith-Cuyler, cotton broker and self-styled social mentor, several years after he had married Miss Grace Barton, daughter of Mrs. Isabella T. Barton, one of the wealthiest women in Alameda, Cal., is revealed in the answer just filed in the supreme court by Mrs. Cuyler to her husband's suit for a separation on the ground of abandonment.

Cuyler, who is a son of the late Henry Hunt Smith, onet of the best known cotton factors in the south, had his name changed by the Georgia legislature. His wife, by whom he has two children, left him in 1912 and established her residence in San Francisco, where she brought suit for a divorce. She got an interlocutory decree in September, 1913, but Cuyler then started proceedings to set aside the divorce and the case dragged on until last month, when she got her final decree and the custody of her children. In the meantime Cuyler brought a $500,000 alienation suit against his wealthy mother-in-law, which is still pending.

In her answer, Mrs. Cuyler declares that her husband did not provide for her and their children during the twelve years she lived with him, and that because of heavy losses she sustained in the San Francisco earthquake and fire, she was compelled to accept support from her mother after leaving her husband. She says she went back to her husband five times when he forced his attentions on her.

Caused Her to Become Gray.

Mrs. Cuyler said that her husband's continued course of extreme cruelty and wilful neglect caused her to become prematurely gray. She says that when he was with her and her mother in France he annoyed and harassed her by his attentions to a former girl friend from Atlanta, Mrs. Constance Brown, and one day she found him on the beach at Dinard with his head in Mrs. Brown's lap.

Mrs. Cuyler alleges that on the occasion of the funeral ceremonies of King Edward in London, Cuyler flourished a pistol because her mother wouldn't let a personal friend of his occupy a window she had rented from which to view the ceremonies. He once quarreled with her because of the manner their daughter ate soup, and slapped her face in the presence of the butler and servants, she adds.

Mrs. Cuyler said that after she returned from the trip abroad with her mother she found a number of her husband's private letters, and among them the diary in which she discovered that her husband "had carried his love of his former fiancee to such an extent that he was writing about her for several years after he was married?"

Extract From Love Diary.

"This diary so affected me that I became ill," said Mrs. Cuyler, "because of his references to the "miserable game," and I was never thereafter deceived by his protestations of love."

Mrs. Cuyler asks that her husband's suit be dismissed because he was a party to the California action in which she got her divorce. Before they separated the Cuylers lived at 61 East Seventy-second street.

The following is an extract from the diary of Mr. Cuyler referring to his one-time fiancee who married another man:

"My feelings toward her are as fixed as the Polar star, and will never suffer the slightest deviation throughout time or the sweep of ages, to the end and beyond. I fully realize that I am conferring immortality upon her by this writing. When I see the lost, the wasted past ten years, I mourn the unbegotten posterity whom those cursed, hell-born relatives of hers murdered—aye, for gold. The republic is the loser, but what can I do? The path is fixed and the light of my poor life is gone out forever and ever. So all that is left for me is to watch the miserable game played to its uttermost conclusion."

CASE OF LEO M. FRANK MAY BE DECIDED TODAY

Generally Believed That U. S. Supreme Court Will Hand Down Opinion.

Washington, April 4.—Many of the seventy-five cases pending before the supreme court are expected to be decided when the court resumes sessions tomorrow after a two weeks' recess devoted to writing opinions.

The case which has been under consideration longest involves the constitutionality of the Oklahoma suffrage "grandfather clause" case. It also will determine the validity of an Annapolis, Md., law, under which the right of negroes to vote is said to have been more or less restricted. The case has been under consideration by the court since November 11, 1913.

The habeas corpus case of Leo M. Frank, convicted of the murder of Mary Phagan, the Atlanta, Ga., factory girl, was not argued until February 15, 1915, but many are looking forward to a decision in the matter.

Another case of importance pending is that involving the constitutionality of the Oregon minimum wage law for women employees.

WEIGHTY PROBLEMS FOR N. Y. CONVENTION

Albany, N. Y., April 4.—Weighty problems face the constitutional convention which will convene here Tuesday. Twenty-one years have elapsed since the last constitution was drawn. Since then new questions have arisen and many changes are required. It is expected the convention may sit until fall.

Chief among the issues which probably will be disposed of are: Equal suffrage, old age pensions, home rule for counties, commission form of government, reorganization of the judiciary, conservation of natural resources, simplification of the election systems, reduction of the number of elective state officials, short ballot.

Within six weeks after adjournment of the convention any amendments to the present constitution or new constitution must be submitted to a vote of the people. The vote is likely to be taken at the regular fall election. If approved the changes will go into effect January 1 next.

Republicans control the convention. Elihu Root, former United States senator and a delegate-at-large, probably will be chosen president of the convention.

LOSS OF LIFE FEARED IN TOLEDO HOTEL FIRE

Toledo, Ohio, April 4.—It is believed several persons were burned to death in a fire which early today destroyed the Niagara hotel here. More than 200 guests were in the building and many have not been accounted for.

The body of Mrs. John L. Fryel, of Adrian, Mich., a three-day bride, was recovered today. Her husband is missing.

Vernon Gates and his son, Hal, of Chicago, were burned so badly they are not expected to recover.

DEATH RODE STORM AND TOOK HARVEST OF LIVES AND SHIPS

Steamer Prins Maurits Has Probably Gone to the Bottom Off Hatteras With Crew and Passengers.

TUG LUCKENBACH LOST AND 16 MEN DROWNED

Only Two Members of Tug's Crew Escaped—Ten Lives Lost Off Delaware Capes. Several Wrecks Reported.

New York, April 4.—Fears that the steamer Prins Maurits, of the Royal Dutch West Indies company line, had gone down, possibly with all on board, were expressed tonight in a wireless message received from the steamer Algonquin, which yesterday went to the aid of the Prins Maurits, reported in distress off Cape Hatteras.

The message from the Algonquin said the last heard from the Prins Maurits were the words, "sinking fast." The Algonquin's message adds:

"No later news was received from her, but all hands are supposed to have perished."

The Algonquin, of the Clyde Steamship company, which is on her way to New York from West Indian ports, sent word that she expected to reach her Monday. The Prins Maurits, which left New York Thursday for West Indian ports, carried only four passengers. She was commanded by Captain H. J. Vandergoot. The steamer is of 1,328 net tonnage, 285 feet long, 38 feet beam and about 20 feet depth. She was built in Hamburg in 1900.

List of Passengers.

The passengers were Mrs. F. T. Wallace, of Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. C. Miot, of Haiti, and a Mrs. La Roche, of Wilmington, Del.

Word that the Prins Maurits was in distress came in a wireless message yesterday, supposed to have been relayed by a British cruiser. She reported her latitude and longitude and asked for prompt help.

Several vessels, including the Algonquin and the City of Macon, went to her assistance, but further word came from her or from the steamers that had gone to the rescue until tonight's message.

Tonight's dispatch came from A. A. Boom, traveling inspector of the Royal Dutch West Indies company, aboard the Algonquin, in response to a message of inquiry sent from the company's offices here today. Representatives of the line had nothing to add to the text of the wireless except to state they had little hope of receiving further news tonight.

The Prins Maurits, officers of the line said, carried a crew of from forty to forty-five men.

Wilmington, Del., April 4.—Mrs. Marion W. C. Wallace, of this city, was a passenger on the Prins Maurits. She was the only passenger from Wilmington aboard. It was said here that the other three passengers were from Haiti.

Mrs. Wallace was the wife of Howard T. Wallace, a financier and well-known horseman. She was on her way to Port-au-Prince to visit a daughter, Mrs. John T. Marsh, of Philadelphia, who is in Haiti with her husband.

LUCKENBACH LOST WITH 16 OF CREW.

Norfolk, Va., April 4.—Sixteen men are believed to have lost their lives when the tug Edward Luckenbach foundered off False Cape, Va., yesterday. Only two men have so far been accounted for, Harry Olsen, first mate, and Cicero Godwin, second officer. Six bodies have washed ashore at False Cape.

The tug struck yesterday morning during the northeast gale which swept this coast for twenty-four hours. The vessel sank in fifteen minutes after she struck the beach and her crew had no chance to save their lives.

The Luckenbach was bound for Norfolk from New York with three barges in tow, two of which were the Josephus and West Point. She lost her tow in the gale and it is believed that she was trying to recover them when she was driven ashore.

Godwin was washed ashore by high seas and was picked up by coast guards at False Cape. He was thought to be dead as he was found with the bodies of five of his shipmates. He was revived, however, and will probably recover.

Olsen was cut down from a mast of the sunken tug to which he had clung for over twenty-four hours. He was unconscious when coast guards reached him, but he was revived after two hours of first-aid treatment with hot drinks and massage treatment.

Two volunteer coast guard crews from False Cape and Little Island stations saved Olsen's life. The men made several attempts to reach the lone man on the mast but each time they were driven back by high seas. When the wind shifted from the northeast to the northwest they succeeded in launching a boat and went out to the spot where Olsen was clinging to his one chance for life.

The barge Josephus went ashore six miles from the spot where the Luckenbach struck and her crew was taken off by coast guards from Dam Neck station.

The Luckenbach was one of the biggest tugs engaged in ocean towing. She was commanded by Captain William E. Olmstead, of this city, who is believed to have perished with fifteen members of his crew.

The barges West Point and W. H. Macey are at anchor six miles off False Cape and a tug has been sent to tow them to this port.

Cicero Godwin, second officer on the tug, declared that the vessel lost her rudder in the gale and became unmanageable. But for this accident, he says, the Luckenbach probably would not have been driven ashore.

Austrian Line Broken In Carpathian Passes By Russian Hammer

It Is Officially Announced in Vienna That the Austrian Forces Have Been Compelled to Retreat.

GATEWAY TO THE PLAINS OF NORTHERN HUNGARY OPEN TO THE RUSSIANS

Military Experts Believe That There Will Be General Retirement of Austro-German Forces—In North Poland the Russians Claim That the Germans Are Being Driven.

260,000 PRISONERS TAKEN BY RUSSIANS SINCE JAN. 21

London, April 5.—(2:59 a. m.)—The Daily Mail's Petrograd correspondent asserts that the Russians have taken 260,000 prisoners on the Carpathian front since the advance began January 21.

A Petrograd dispatch to The Daily Telegraph says that for some time past the Russians have taken prisoners in the Carpathians at the rate of an army corps every fortnight.

London, April 4.—The Russian army which took the Austrian fortress of Przemysl has achieved another victory. Starting westward from the Galician stronghold immediately after the fall, the Muscovites now have entered the Beskid mountains—a range which connects the little Carpathians with the eastern Carpathians and forms part of the boundary between Galicia and Hungary—and driven out the Austrians who had stubbornly held the passes and heights.

Brief, indeed, is Vienna's acknowledgment that this vantage point, the gateway to the plains of northern Hungary, has been evacuated. It says merely that the Austrians were compelled to make the move because of the presence of large Russian reinforcements from Przemysl.

BLOODY FIGHTING TAKING PLACE.

To the eastward in the Carpathian sanguinary fighting is taking place. Both the Austrians and the Russians claim victories at various points and the capture of men and guns. In the region of Virawa, Austria asserts that 2,020 prisoners were taken. In the vicinity of Zaleszitrow almost all the defenders of a Russian position were killed by the heavy guns of the Austrians and the position was taken. This admission is made by the Russian commander-in-chief, who, however, asserts that the place almost immediately was retaken by a counter attack.

It is the opinion of British military experts that the Austro-German forces will have to retire to the mountains south of the Carpathian range and make another effort there to prevent the Russian armies, and particularly the Cossacks, from swarming over the plains of Hungary.

In north Poland a cavalry charge in the Suwalki district resulted in a defeat of the Germans, who were driven away with loss in men killed or captured, according to Petrograd. Berlin says Russian attacks near Augustowo were repulsed.

LITTLE FIGHTING ON WEST FRONT.

There has been little fighting in the west. The French have taken the village of Regnieville, in the Woevre department, from the Germans, while the Germans have captured from the Belgians the village of Driel Graechten, south of Dixmude. It is not believed that the Germans will make any big attempt in this region, as floods, which can be brought about at any time by opening the sluices, offer an impenetrable barrier to a general advance.

Fighting also continues in the forest of Le Pretre, which has been the scene of a long and sanguinary battle.

Nothing new has been received from the Dardanelles or the other Turkish fronts, although a Russian semi-official report says the Turkish protected cruiser Medjidieh struck a mine and sank.

So far as the Balkans are concerned interest centers in the raid by Bulgarian irregulars into Serbia, which has been successfully countered. The Serbians charge the raiders were led by Bulgarian, Austrian or German officers, while the Bulgarians reply that the outbreak was the result of the Serbian administration of that portion of Macedonia which is largely inhabited by Bulgarians. It is expected here that the matter will be settled by Bulgaria promising to punish those responsible for the raid, if it is proved that they actually organized the operation.

DEFEAT ADMITTED BY AUSTRIANS.

ANIMALS SLANDERED BY NAMES OF DANCE

"Municipal Hall Would Be Nothing Better Than Licensed House of Prostitution," Says Dr. White, Answering Atkinson.

"Public dance halls are as dark as hell, and I do not see how any man with any regard for public morals can indorse such a thing," declared Dr. J. L. White, in addressing his congregation Sunday night at the Tabernacle Baptist church on "The Ethics of the Dance."

Dr. White declared that the limit had been reached when an Atlanta man had made such a suggestion, and he appealed to his congregation to frown on such a plan.

"It is nothing better than a licensed house of prostitution," said Dr. White. "The Methodists, Baptists and Presbyterians don't want it, and they won't have it. Other churches may establish such an institution, but the good city of Atlanta shall never put its stamp of approval on it."

Recently Dean J. R. Atkinson, of St. Philip's cathedral, urged the establishment of a municipal dance hall in Atlanta and it brought forth a storm of protest from several Protestant ministers.

Began in Grog Shop.

"I spent half an hour in a public dance hall in Indianapolis some years ago, and it was enough for me," said Dr. White. "They said when the evolution of the old German round dance began you could put an object three feet wide between the two dancers, but today it is impossible to get a feather between them.

"The German round dance had its origin in a German grog shop, and its purpose was prostitution. This dance was too tame, so the grizzly bear, the bunny hug, the turkey trot and others were given to society. It is slander to name these dances for the old bear, the unprotected rabbit and the innocent turkey."

The dance, the preacher said, was spoken of in the Scriptures, but in every case the woman danced alone, and it was a sort of religious ceremony.

"Dancing in itself cannot be condemned by history or the Scriptures, but nowhere did the sexes dance together," he said. "The old square dance was not objectionable if danced on the square.

"If you want to dance, dance alone. If a crowd of young women wish to dance, there is no objection to their dancing together, but whoever heard of a group of old bachelors dancing together?

"The modern dance," Dr. White said, "destroys domestic happiness; is dangerous to social purity; takes away from the person of woman its sacredness, makes the compromising pose seem natural and is nearly always accompanied by champagne and liquor. To these tragedy is nearly always connected.

No Woman Is Safe.

"No woman under the influence of strong drink is safe. In the heat and passion of the ballroom she is certain to think evil."

Dr. White quoted at length from a special article in Sunday's Constitution which dealt with the effect of drink on women, and in this connection said: "I read this in The Constitution, which means that it is all right, for you can depend on it that if anything is in that good paper it is all right. If you haven't read last Sunday's Constitution, get it and read this article," said Dr. White.

He closed his sermon with an appeal for indorsement of his stand against the public dance hall, and declared that a Christian would lose his force with the world and his connection with his church by following after the modern dance.

"And yet, how can we believe that a man who loves virtue and decency would ask for a public dance hall for Atlanta, an institution which in many cities is responsible for the downfall of 90 per cent of the fallen women?" he asked.

Will Preach on Baseball.

Dr. White's sermon last night was the first of a series of Sunday night sermons on recreations. Next Sunday night he will preach on "The Ethics of Outdoor Sports," and will state his attitude toward baseball.

On Sunday night, April 18, he will preach on "Recreation v. Dissipation," and the concluding sermon of the series will be on Sunday night, April 25, when he will preach on "Proper Amusements."

Following the sermon last night, Dr. White administered the ordinance of baptism by immersion to a number of new members.

Gen. D'Amade Mourns Son, But Is Proud That He Died As Sacrifice for France

Paris, April 4.—General A. G. L. D'Amade, commander of the French expeditionary forces at the Dardanelles, has lost his youngest son, aged 18, a second lieutenant of infantry. A friend has just received from the general the following letter written while he was on the way to the Dardanelles:

"At Sea, March 31.—Dear Sir: I am late in acknowledging the receipt of your letter of December 28. The cause of the delay is a great misfortune which has come upon us. I have lost my youngest son, Gerard, who had only just been received at St. Cyr in the last competition of July 14.

"He fell gloriously for France during a night reconnoitering expedition in the Argonne on January 25. Mortally wounded, he fell upon the very trenches of the enemy which he had received instructions to reconnoiter.

"Two German generals who were witnesses of his bravery and courage, wrote to me, expressing spontaneously their admiration, and informed me that our poor child had been buried near V——, in the great forest of Argonne.

"I have no need to tell you that it is a great pain, but we could offer to God and to France nothing more beautiful, nothing more pure, nothing more generous than that child. We are proud of him, but after the war we shall mourn him until death.

"I carry with me in my new mission this pain, engraved deeply in my heart, as an example of courage and as a great reason to hope you may never know the pain that we have suffered."

Weather Prophecy
FAIR.

Washington, April 4.—Forecast:

Georgia—Fair and rising temperature Monday and Tuesday; light to moderate variable winds.

Virginia—Fair and warmer Monday; Tuesday fair.

North and South Carolina and Florida—Fair and rising temperature Monday and Tuesday; light to moderate variable winds.

Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana—Fair and warmer Monday; Tuesday fair, fresh south and southwest winds.

kid region of the Carpathians, where some of the heaviest fighting has taken place in the struggle for control of the mountain passes leading into Hungary, was announced today at army headquarters. The statement reads:

"The presence of large Russian reinforcements arriving from Przemysl compelled the Austrian army to withdraw from the Beskid region.

"In the Carpathians fighting on both sides of the LaBorcza valley continues. Yesterday we attacked the eastern heights and dislodged the enemy from several strong positions. Russian attacks east of Virawa were repulsed.

"In yesterday's engagements we captured 2,020 prisoners.

"North of Uzsok pass the situation is unchanged. Renewed Russian attacks miscarried after a short fight.

"There is no news from the other fronts."

The Beskid mountains form part of the boundary between Hungary and Galicia. They are a section of the Carpathians, the barrier upon which Austria-Hungary relies to halt the Russian advance.

On the mountain heights and in the passes fighting has been in progress all winter in the snows and bitter cold. Recently the Russians announced important successes, although these claims hitherto had not been corroborated in Vienna. Fighting in the Beskids has been severe recently. Yesterday's Austrian statement said it had been ascertained that all the Russian divisions released by the fall of Przemysl were now on the Carpathian front.

GREAT SUCCESS FOR RUSSIANS.

Petrograd, April 4.—(Via London, April 5, 1:55 a. m.)—The following official communication was issued today:

"On the front to the west of the Niemen river (north Poland) the fighting is developing greatly in our favor. Our cavalry, on the road between Kalwarya and Suwalki, in the region of the village of Zelonalabuda, after a stubborn fight Friday with German cavalry, which was supported by infantry, made a dashing charge, sabering many of the enemy and capturing others. They drove the Germans from the region they were occupying and are now pursuing them.

"In the Capathians on Friday we gained a great success in the sector north of the roads leading to Barfield and also in the region between Mezolaborcz and Lutoviska.

"During that day we captured on the Carpathian front more than 2,000 soldiers and three guns and three machine guns.

"In the Zaleszitrow region, the Austrians essaped an offensive, but all their attacks failed completely. We captured two officers and about 100 men.

"In the direction of Chotin, after the grave defeat inflicted on them March 30, by portions of our cavalry, who delivered an irresistible attack while on foot, the Austrians evacuated our territory and withdrew to their frontier, where they are fortifying themselves.

"In this battle of the 30th our cavalry showed unexampled bravery in attacking while afoot enemy infantry units with bayonet, saber and lance.

"In the Gulf of Odessa, on Saturday, a Turkish cruiser, believed to be the Medjidieh, struck one of our mines and blew up and sank."

TONGUE CUT OUT BY THE AUSTRIANS.

London, April 5.—(6:22 a. m.)—Reuter's Petrograd correspondent sends the following:

"A dispatch from the commander-in-chief received tonight (Sunday) says:

"'In the region of Zalesztrow, during the night of Saturday, the Austrians violently bombarded one of our fortifications with heavy guns, their fire killing all the defenders. The Austrian infantry then attacked and occupied our positions, but they almost immediately were dislodged by a counter attack made by a Russian company.

"'The Russians found in a trench one of their comrades named Makuksa, whom the Austrians had captured and horribly mutilated. Makuksa had been acting as a telephone operator, and having refused to give the enemy information, his tongue was cut out.

"'The commander-in-chief promoted Makuksa on the spot to rank as a non-commissioned officer and conferred on him the Cross of St. George, first class. He also expressed to Makuksa personal gratitude and commended his case to the attention of the emperor for a double rate of pay.'"

AUSTRIAN FORCES CUT TO PIECES.

London, April 4.—A Reuter dispatch from Petrograd gives a semi-official account of the defeat of the Austrian forces, which penetrated Bessarabia. It says:

"The Austrians were defeated and in part annihilated. A division of Austrian infantry and a brigade of cavalry held an organized position near the villages of Schiovtzy and Malintzy. Two columns of Russian infantry attacked them and enveloped their front on the morning of March 30, one column from the north and one from the south.

"The enemy resisted desperately, while the Russian troops delivered many assaults with the bayonet. Cossacks came up and dismounted. They also used cold steel and the heights were carried.

"Meanwhile, at the village of Rokssotine, about eight miles north, an Austrian force was driven out by Cossacks with the bayonet. The Austrians then began a retreat along the whole front."

GUERILLA WAR ON GIANT SCALE.

Berlin, April 4.—(Via London.)—A description of conditions under which desperate fighting is being waged in the Carpathians is contained in a dispatch to The National Zeitung, which says that not only is the terrain tremendously difficult, but that it is so broken up by mountains and forests that the conflict resembles guerilla warfare on a colossal scale.

Unable to see parts of the territory involved, combatants often find it necessary to abandon a position gained at heavy loss because its view is cut off from other sections of the battle line. Although the Russians are constantly bringing up fresh troops and making terrible sacrifices, the correspondent says, their onslaught has been checked at Dukla.

The Russians for several days have been trying to force back the Austro-Hungarians in the middle pass between Lupkow and Uzsok passes. The Teutonic allies there, The National Zeitung says, have long been contending against "greatly superior numbers, but nevertheless accomplishing wonders of endurance and bravery."

GERMANS CLAIM BELGIAN DEFEAT.

Berlin, April 4.—(By Wireless to Sayville, N. Y.)—The war office today made the following announcement:

"On the Yser canal, south of Dixmude, German troops occupied the village of Drei Grachten, on the western bank, which was held by the Belgians.

"Several French charges in the forest of Le Pretre were repulsed.

"Russian attacks near Augustowo were repulsed."

PROGRESS MADE BY THE FRENCH.

Paris, April 4.—Tonight's official war office statement said:

"The day has been calm on the whole front save in the Woevre district, where our progress has continued. We have taken possession of the village of Regnieville, 2 1-2 kilometers west of Fay en Haye, which we occupied April 1."

TURK CRUISER SENT TO BOTTOM.

London, April 4.—The sinking of the Turkish armored cruiser Medjidieh is reported in a Reuter's Petrograd dispatch. A semi-official communication from Sebastopol to Petrograd says that the Medjidieh struck a mine near the Russian coast last night and went down.

The Medjidieh was a member of the Turkish Black sea fleet, which has attacked Russian ports and sunk Russian vessels. On January 31 Petrograd announced that the Medjidieh, with the Turkish cruiser Mirriti, formerly the German cruiser Breslau, had been discovered near Samsoun, but escaped the Russian fleet.

The Medjidieh was built in Philadelphia. She was a small vessel and her armament was light. She was 331 feet long and 42 feet beam and displaced 5,432 tons. She was armed with two 6-inch guns, eight 4.7-inch guns, six 3-pounders, six 1-pounders and two torpedo tubes. Her complement was 302 men.

London, April 5.—(2:52 a. m.)—Reuter's Amsterdam correspondent says:

"A Berlin dispatch received here states that Turkish headquarters report that the Turkish fleet yesterday (Sunday) was near Odessa, and that the cruiser Medjidieh, while pursuing enemy minesweepers in the vicinity of the fortress of Otchakow, struck [illegible] drifting mine and sank. Her crew was saved by Turkish warships.

"The sailors of the Medjidieh, the dispatch adds, before the ship sank, removed the breech locks of the guns and torpedoed the ship to prevent her being refloated by the Russians."

GERMAN ROVER CLINGS TO AMERICAN REFUGE

Prinz Eitel Still at Newport News May Make Dash Before Tuesday.

Newport News, Va., April 5.—At 1 o'clock this morning the Eitel Friedrich was still at her pier, and there appeared to be nothing to indicate that she intended making an attempt to make a dash to sea any time soon.

Newport News, Va., April 4.—Having failed to take advantage of a twenty-four-hour period at which she was at liberty to make a daring dash through the lane of British warships who lurk for her destruction off the Virginia capes, the German merchant raiding cruiser, Prinz Eitel Friedrich, remained at her dock here at a late hour tonight.

United States naval forces still patrol the port guarding the Prinz Eitel, aided by coast artillerymen from Fortress Monroe. Late in the day the battleship Alabama, which had been anchored in Hampton Roads, off Old Point Comfort, guarding the channel to the sea, changed her position, moving further in and anchoring at the point where the Elizabeth river to Norfolk and the James river to Newport News flow into the roads near the shipyard, where the Eitel is in dock, were the naval tug Sonoma and submarine boat D-2, while the naval tug Patuxent remained moored to the pier at the Eitel's stern.

That Captain Thierichens, commander of the Eitel, had intended to leave the refuge of this American port last night was declared tonight to have been his earnest intention, and to afford him the opportunity, the United States government held up the departure of British merchant ships from this port for twenty-four hours, which expired at 5:45 o'clock last night. To-night, however, the Prinz Eitel was still at her pier, and there were no signs of preparations for early departure. Scores of the crew were given shore leave and were still about the streets here tonight.

Some unexpected development, it was reported, had arisen to prevent the dash to the sea last night.

Another opportunity for the merchant raider to depart, it was reported here tonight, would be given by the United States tomorrow and tomorrow night, marine men here asserting tonight that instructions had been received to permit no merchant ships of the allies to leave the port of Norfolk and Newport News after noon Monday until noon Tuesday. This will give the Eitel another period of liberty in which to leave the United States waters, even if all time for her to make repairs allotted by the United States government has not expired. As three British merchant ships left this port early today, the Eitel would not be permitted to go before 10 o'clock tomorrow, at the earliest.

SERBIA STIRRED BY BULGAR RAID

Protest Made to Bulgaria. Arrest of the Raiders Demanded — Bulgaria's Attitude Will Indicate Future Policy.

Paris, April 4.—The Serbian government has protested to the government of Bulgaria because of the invasion of Serbian territory by Bulgarian irregular troops, according to The Petit Journal. While couched in moderate terms, the protest is said to request the arrest and imprisonment of those responsible.

Further details of the incident received today confirm the report that the invaders were driven away from the railroad station at Strumitsa, the Serbian town near the Bulgarian border, where the attack was made. The railway station master at Strumitsa reports that the line of Ghevgheli is now clear of the raiders and apparently has not been damaged.

Captured Cannon Retaken.

Serbian frontier guards, who pursued the fleeing irregulars, retook two captured cannon.

Six bodies were found in the railway station at Strumitsa. The extent of the loses inflicted on the attacking force is unknown. Thirty bodies were found, and the raiders themselves picked up and buried others.

This is said to be the fifth incident of its kind since the beginning of the European war, and there is much speculation in Paris as to their exact significance. It is felt that Bulgaria's attitude on this occasion will indicate her future policy.

The Havas agency received today from Nish, Serbia, a dispatch saying that the losses of the Serbian troops were sixty killed and fifty-three wounded, including five officers.

INVADERS FLED BACK TO BULGARIA.

London, April 4.—The Serbian legation here received today the following official dispatch from Nish:

"The Bulgarian irregulars were driven back from Strumitsa. The fight was short. When reinforcements arrived our advanced posts cleared the Strumitsa station and the invaders fled in the direction of Bulgaria.

"Our troops, pursuing the enemy, found thirty of their dead, and it is presumed that others were carried away. We lost fifty killed."

A semi-official communication from Nish to Reuters states that the invading force scattered among the Serbian frontier villages and compelled the inhabitants to remove to Bulgaria, taking their goods and cattle with them. It also is stated, although not confirmed, that the invaders set fire to the Serbian block houses at Planvotch and Bonagli.

NOT RESPONSIBLE, SAYS BULGARIA.

Rome, April 4.—(Via Paris.)—D. Rizow, Bulgarian minister to Rome, expressed the opinion today that the Serbo-Bulgarian border incident was the work of Macedonian revolutionists in Serbia, who oppose the Serbian regime in territory gained in the Balkan wars. M. Rizow asserted that the Bulgarian government was not responsible for the affair, and that its only desire was to preserve neutrality.

M. Ristitch, the Serbian minister, denied this. He said that Macedonians in this part of Serbia had no desire to oppose the present order of things. Responsibility for the incident, he asserted, might be determined by considering to whose interests it would be to provoke such an outbreak. This, he said, pointed clearly to Bulgaria, which by occupying the left bank of the Vardar river, could threaten to cut Serbian communications with Saloniki, the only source from which the country could bring in supplies. Already, he said, wire communication had been cut.

FRENCH RUSHED MOUNTAIN PEAK

Vivid Description of Taking of Hartmanns-Weilerkopf From Germans — German Losses Heavy.

Paris, April 4.—A vivid description of the capture by the French of the summit of Hartmanns-Weilerkopf, a peak of the Vosges mountains (a few miles north of Thann), is given in an official war office communication today. The occupation of the height was announced March 27. The final phases of the struggle for this important strategic position which had long been in dispute are thus pictured by the French military observer:

"A small number of soldiers who reached the summit early in January and established a position in a small fort were forced to surrender on account of starvation, notwithstanding many continued efforts of their comrades to succor them.

Roused by Spirit of Revenge.

"All the troops were now aroused by a spirit of revenge and were only too eager for the attack. During the remainder of January and February siege operations were carried out and on March 9 an assault was made. The German trenches were subjected to a heavy artillery fire and our men captured the strongest German blockhouses and a portion of the first line of trenches. The enemy made four vigorous counter attacks on March 5 and two on the mornings of March 6 and 7, but was repulsed by our fire.

"On March 17 we attacked again, but on March 20 the greatest effort was made under cover of the tremendous cross fire from our Black Mouths' cannon of all caliber, including many rapid firers. Trees could be seen falling and also portions of German bodies flying high in the air. Our infantry with a cheer made a heroic charge, pouring like a living stream into the two lines of trenches under a wall of fire.

"The work of fortifying the conquered position was begun and violent German counter attacks were not sufficient to drive out our men, who continued to look forward to the other lines of German fortifications, confident of an ultimate victory.

"The night of March 25 passed without counter attacks and the morning dawned without the usual fog, showing a splendid opportunity for our artillery. The artillery and infantry surrounding Hartmanns-Weilerkopf were eager to begin the final assault which had been planned and awaited for three months.

Dismembered Soldiers.

"Observers reported at least three lines of German fortifications and redoubts between our position and the summit. A great bombardment was begun by our artillery of all calibers at 10:30 o'clock, continuing until 2:30 and sweeping everything before it. Large pine trees were sawed off, disclosing concealed German batteries and fortifications. The ground was strewn with portions of the bodies of dismembered soldiers.

"At 2:45 o'clock, with a tremendous rush our troops made a converted effort to force through the enemy's positions and swept on all before them. They reached the summit shortly after. On the highest point, despite the continuous rain of shot and shell, one of our infantry waved the flag triumphantly, signaling to the artillery that the position was ours and how to direct the fire to the eastern slope. The Germans utterly put to rout, dropped their arms in flight. We captured what remained of one company—80 men.

"The note says that during the attacks of March 24 and 26 more than 400 prisoners were taken. The number of French soldiers is not known.

"The success was pushed over the crest and on the southern slope established on the farther slope, giving us the whole German observatory, the French observer says.

"Many acts of individual bravery are reported. Among these is the exploit of a soldier named Dumoulin, 'who, alone in a German trench, entered into a hand-to-hand combat with a soldier who was manoeuvring a quick-firer which had stopped our attack. The quick-firer was silenced and our troops reached the trench, capturing many occupants.'"

GERMANY URGES ITALY TO CONTINUE NEUTRAL

Status of Relations Between Italy and Austria Gives Rise to Alarmist Rumors.

Rome, April 4.—Despite the difficult pass to which negotiations between Italy and Austria have come, Prince von Buelow, the German ambassador, continues his efforts to bring about an adjustment. His latest proposal, it is understood, is that the territory which Austria might cede to Italy be occupied by Switzerland during the remainder of the war, and turned over to Italy when peace is concluded.

This suggestion was advanced, it is stated, to insure Italy's continued neutrality. It is said Italy also rejected a proposal that Germany hold the territory to be ceded to Italy. It is generally felt that the ambassador's latest plan is impracticable.

The status of relations between Italy and Austria has given rise to many alarmist rumors. One report is being circulated that Prince von Buelow has left Italy secretly, believing war inevitable. The prince and princess are living in their villa in the suburbs. The prince's manner always is confident, and his conversation optimistic.

The exodus of German and Austrian subjects throughout Italy continues. Denial is given to reports that Prince von Buelow has ever considered leaving Rome, although it is understood some of his belongings have been sent to Germany. The Austrian ambassador to the Quirinal and the Prussian and Bavarian ministers to the Vatican also are reported to have sent home some of their effects.

The arrival here of Tomasso Tittoni, Italian ambassador at Paris, for Easter is regarded as especially significant, although it is his custom to come to Rome at this season each year. This trip is considered important because of the gravity of the international situation and the important position Signor Tittoni occupies in Italian public affairs.

PROHIBITION QUESTION BEFORE GREAT BRITAIN

London, April 4.—The question of the prohibition of alcoholic liquors for the period of the war was discussed from pulpits throughout England today, clergymen urging that the example of the king and the cabinet ministers should be followed and that the use of alcoholics should be given up voluntarily.

One mail brought Chancellor Lloyd-George about 15,000 letters dealing with the question of abstinence. The communications were in answer to the full-page appeal appearing in the newspapers urging citizens to write him in favor of absolute prohibition.

A meeting of the labor party at Norwich, on the other hand, strongly protested against the accusation that the output of war munitions was being delayed by drinking.

DENIED WORKINGMEN ARE DRINKING TOO MUCH.

Norwich, England, April 4.—James Kier Hardie and Frederick W. Jowett, members of parliament, addressing a labor meeting here tonight, declared the working classes were bearing the greater part of the war burden. They protested against the allegation that workingmen were indulging in drink unduly. There were no anti-war speeches.

The meeting was attended by delegates to the independent labor party's annual meeting, and was arranged as a demonstration to precede the regular meeting.

While tonight's meeting was in session big crowds surrounded the building in which it was held and sang national myns.

REVIVAL SWELLS CHURCH THRONGS

Leading Pastors Report Addition of Over 300 Members on Easter Sunday, Largely as Result of the Chapman Meeting.

Echoes of the Chapman-Alexander meetings were heard in the churches of Atlanta Easter Sunday, when more than 300 new members joined.

The source of a big majority of this number was traced directly to the revival. Its influence, evangelical ministers say, establishes an epoch in the church history of the city.

Miss Martha Wilson, of 131 Clifton street, 92 years of age, who was converted at the Chapman-Alexander revival meeting, was received into membership at Harris Street Presbyterian church, at Easter communion service on Sunday, along with twenty-six others, twenty-four of whom were received on profession of faith; sixteen of these came out of the Sunday school, the youngest of whom was 8 years of age. There were thirteen to receive the ordinance of baptism.

The largest new enrollment, however, was announced by Rev. Richard Orme Flinn, pastor of the North Avenue Presbyterian church, where there were 111 new members Sunday morning. A major portion of this number, he said last night, was due to the influence of the revivals.

Dr. Dunbar Ogden, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, accepted ninety-nine new members at communion service Easter morning, a majority of whom had been influenced by the Chapman-Alexander meetings. More than forty have been received by the First Methodist church as a result of the revival. Forty-two were accepted in Wesley Memorial church, and ten in St. Mark's. Twenty-six, every one of whom had been sent by the revival meetings, have been accepted by Dr. John E. White, pastor of the Second Baptist.

Ten were accepted by the First Baptist church, of which Rev. C. W. Daniel is pastor. Many other churches reported similar gains.

The steady flow of converts into the evangelical churches of the city, leading religious experts say, means that a vigorous campaign to sustain the influence created by the Chapman-Alexander meetings will be launched at once.

The Evangelical Ministers' association will hold a meeting this morning to such an end.

With the East Snow Bound, Easter Parade in Atlanta Makes History for the Day

The day was wondrously fair. The sun smiled affectionately from azure skies upon the green and growing things and the splendor of milady's new raiment. The streets rang with laughter and pleasantry. Downtown presented a radiant spectacle of style and color as Atlanta's most fastidious Easter parade moved back and forth from noontide until nightfall.

It was Fifth avenue transplanted. The impression felt by the traveler was that this stylish thoroughfare of the east had moved for the day into the heart of the south to escape the clutches of the wintry storm that prevented New York's annual style pageant. Fifth and all other avenues celebrated in style book and fiction might have had their troubles, but Peachtree bloomed anew with unprecedented grandeur beneath a sun that was never more benevolent.

Soon Shed Overcoats.

Sunday awoke with a touch of chill that soon vanished beneath the warming rays of a noontide sun. Early morning wayfarers ventured forth clad in overcoats, but shed them when church was over. Not a straw hat appeared upon the streets until the noontide warmth gave assurance that nothing would mar the day.

All the glory and glitter of the downtown shop windows seemed transferred to the backs and heads of the smiling-eyed girls and women who moved up and down the street in that throng of fashion's pace-setters.

The policeman on the corner of Whitehall and Alabama agreed with the traffic officer at the junction of Broad and Peachtree that more people thronged the streets in the afternoon than on any other Sunday in the city's history.

The churches threw open their doors to immense congregations. The downtown churches drew an unusually large crowd of visitors, transients, most of them, who could not resist the balmy day, and, wandering along the sunny streets, dropped into church to hear the elaborate musical services prepared in each.

The spirits of the gaily clad pedestrians seemed in time with the weather. Laughing groups gathered on the corners to review the passing pageant; automobiles hummed past with their loads of smiling girls and women. The small boy poked fun at the top hats and straws. Out in the residence streets the sounds of childish laughter filled the air as little girls in new pink frocks and frilly bonnets skipped through the crowds of afternoon strollers.

Crowds at Churches.

The downtown throngs stayed upon the streets until night darkened the skies and the lights awoke. The crowds in attendance upon the night services in the churches were proportionately large. Good musical programs were rendered also at night, and those who didn't care to leave the uptown district were able to hear special Easter song and musical programs in the Hotel Ansley, where the management entertained during the afternoon and early night.

Never has Dame Fashion been so much in evidence at Atlanta's Easter parade. Twenty-four hours from Broadway's style shops, Atlanta revealed that distance is no hindrance in keeping abreast with fickle fashion. And resourcefulness, too, was manifest, for there were fads and fineries disporting upon Peachtree Sunday that have never yet been seen outside this section.

A vaudeville team, two tastily arrayed girls, far from the glamour of Broadway, gazed jealously upon the competitive splendor of Peachtree. They beheld a spectacle that brought pangs of homesickness. Broadway at that very hour was shrinking from the raw blasts of a sleet storm. Chestnut street in Philadelphia shivered in the same storm. Washington, Boston and Baltimore tucked their spring raiment into the wardrobe for another Sunday rather than risk it in the rain and sleet. Atlanta was outdressing the nation.

The tastily attired vaudeville stars admitted as much.

And why shouldn't they?

"Movies" on Sunday Assailed in Sermon Of Rev. O. L. Jones

The obscene joke, card playing and the institution of dancing were characterized as links connecting men's lives with evil pleasures by the Rev. O. L. Jones in a discussion of "The Ethics of Amusement" at the East Point Baptist church Sunday evening. Because there are more amusements in the world today than at any other period of human history, he believed that they formed one of the problems of modern society.

"Amusement is neither contrary to the precepts of the Bible nor to the nature of man," he said. "Dr. Spurgeon, the great divine of London, often led his congregations in prayer when the ripple of laughter was in his speech. Dr. Broughton is so susceptible to mirth that he is unable to keep it from his pulpit, and the Evangelist Moody enjoyed a joke as keenly as any man. There is a time for merry-making, but no Christian man can laugh, at a jest that besmirches the memory. And no decent man can afford to find fun in an obscene joke of any kind."

Dr. Jones paid a tribute to pictures as means of pleasure, high inspiration and moral uplift. However, he decried emphatically the tendency of many motion pictures to portray suggestive ideas and to depict questionable pursuits. "They have even begun," he said, "to encroach upon the holiness of Sunday here in Atlanta. The proceeds, they announce, will be given to charity, and I do not deny the truth of this. But this is only the opening wedge. No Christian man, therefore, can afford to support them."

In considering dancing, Dr. Jones said: "Nowhere in the Bible do the sexes mingle in their dancing, not even on the occasion when Salome danced the suggestive orgy that resulted in the decapitation of John the Baptist. The dance of today is not for pleasure nor do men and women assemble there for exercise. It is an institution linked with the saloon and the brothel."

POLICE WORK SUNDAY ON MANY BURGLARIES

A house burglary and a store burglary that took place Saturday night, but were not discovered until Sunday morning, kept the police and detective buys on Easter.

Besides these two burglaries, sixteen other burglaries, committed Sunday, two hold-up robberies, a snatch-purse robbery and a safe-drilling kept the sixteen sleuths of Detective Chief Newport Lanford on the job all day Easter.

James R. Rice, of 327 Spring street, discovered on waking Sunday that a thief had broken into his house. The burglar made his get-away with a large quantity of clothing, which included a pair of patent leather shoes, a blue serge coat, two new skirts, a razor, a ladies' black coat suit, a silk waist, a white jacket, three yards of black satin cloth and a lavender Easter suit.

Mr. Rosenberg's dry goods store at 112½ Peters street was broken into by thieves and eight pairs of shoes stolen.

Oxford university will send out an expedition of English scientists, with a Polish girl for a guide, to study the origin of the native tribes of Siberia.

PRISON NOT SO BAD; NEW CONVICTS SEE "MOVIE" FIRST DAY

The delegation of twenty-one convicts from Alabama, who, since Saturday, are sojourning for various periods in the Atlanta federal prison, must have felt Sunday afternoon that the big Atlanta penitentiary is not such a bad place to spend awhile at that.

These convicts, consisting of nineteen negroes and two white men, convicted upon an assortment of charges and sentenced to various periods of service, arrived in Atlanta Saturday afternoon.

The very first taste of prison life that these prisoners got was a magnificent moving picture show, which was given to the inmates of the prison Sunday by the management of the Strand moving picture theater.

BIG CROWD HEARS REAGAN'S SPEECH TO CIGARMAKERS

T. J. Reagan, the organizer of the striking textile workers, who discussed the benefits of unionism, and some excellent moving picture films, were the features of an interesting program given at the open meeting of the Atlanta Cigarmakers' union, which was held in the Old Mill theater on Whitehall, Sunday afternoon.

Encouraged by the great interest shown in the meeting by the large numbers of workingmen who attended, and because of the evident awakening of the laborers of the city, it was deemed advisable to hold another open meeting in the same hall next Sunday. The films will be shown between the hours of 2 o'clock and 5, and 7 o'clock and 10 in the evening.

In urging the smokers present to use union cigars, Mr. Reagan recounted conditions prevailing in the shops, both of the south and north, where the union card was not honored. He said that this card was the workingman's sole instrument by which he could hope to attain to a better social station and a living wage.

In referring to the textile workers who are now living under canvas, he said that they had been forced to combat the elements of a long winter under these conditions because those in charge of the cotton mill would not allow them to enter a union for their mutual protection.

SHOT DOWN BY NEGRO, SAYS WOUNDED BLACK

A negro arrested by Detective John Black at the corner of Butler and Gilmer streets, after two shots had been fired, excused his possession of a gun by saying that another negro had shot at him twice and then had thrown his pistol at him. When questioned at the Grady hospital, where he had been taken to have a bullet wound in his leg dressed, the boy stuck to his original story and denied that he had been hit by the detective who fired when the negro threatened to shoot him. At the stationhouse he gave the name of Robert Dixon, 17 years old, of 336 North Butler street.

Near the Auditorium Detective Black encountered two white men and a negro. All three fled, the black throwing a pistol over a garden fence. The white men managed to escape, but the negro and gun were captured.

RALPH PETERS DENIES CHARGES OF BURLESON

Railway President Says Postmaster General's Statements Are Reckless, Misleading.

New York, April 4.—Ralph Peters, president of the Long Island railroad, and chairman of the committee on railway mail pay, representing 264 railroads, today issued a statement answering declarations by Postmaster General Burleson on March 21, that the railroads are overpaid instead of underpaid for conveying the mails.

"Mr. Burleson," the statement says, "has publicly accused the railroads of being insincere in claiming that they are underpaid for carrying the mails. He says that in reality they are overpaid, and to sustain this charge says that 'they are receiving from the government amounts which, for hauls of any considerable length exceed by about two to one the amounts they receive from express companies for like and similar services.'"

Mr. Burleson, the statement declared, bases his assertion regarding the mail and express earnings of the railroads upon a number of comparisons, which it says are misleading.

The statement declares the mail returns to the railroads increased less than 1 per cent in six years from 1907 to 1913, while the returns to the railroads from express traffic increased 27 per cent in the same period.

In conclusion, the statement quotes from the report last year by the joint congressional committee on railway mail pay, which, it says, investigated the question and rejected the "department's attempt to show higher relative earnings from mail as reckless and misleading."

VILLA-ZAPATA FORCES TO HOLD MEXICO CITY

Rumors of Evacuation Denied. No Danger of Attack by Carranza.

Washington, April 4.—Ismael Palafox, in charge of the foreign office of the Villa-Zapata government in Mexico City, today telegraphed Enrique C. Llorente, Washington representative, that there was no intention of evacuating Mexico City, as reported in diplomatic dispatches several days ago.

The text of the message follows:

"You can deny the rumored evacuation of Mexico City, as there is absolutely no ground for it. The capital is sufficiently well garrisoned. We have 6,000 troops in the city, besides 10,000 in the suburbs. There is absolutely no danger of an attack by the enemy, as Obregon is heading toward Tampico to reinforce General Gonzales there. General situation good. Commerce, industry and banks are opened and all administration working harmoniously. The spread of the rumor of the evacuation caused a little alarm, but as soon as denied by the government, calm was restored."

GAMBLING GAME IN RED CROSS HOSPITAL.

Brownsville, Texas, April 4.—Easter Sunday passed with only occasional exchanges of rifle fire between the Villa forces investing Matamoros and the Carranza troops defending the town.

Five hundred Villa troops with one cannon were reported to have reached Reynosa, about 60 miles west of Matamoros, today. An express car which some Carranza supporters said contained an aeroplane for use at Matamoros and others declared was loaded with ammunition, arrived here late today. It was not unloaded today.

There were special Easter services for the 150 Villa wounded in the Red Cross hospital here, first a Catholic mass and then physician services. After the services, H. C. Harrison, business manager for the Red Cross, discovered some Mexicans, who, after entering the hospital under the guise of friends of convalescents, had started a gambling game beside the beds and were winning the soldiers' money. There was about $25 at stake when Harrison put an end to the game.

Juan Perales, a 12-year-old Villa cavalryman, was among those operated on in the hospital here today. The child's knee was shattered by fighting at Matamoros. He submitted to the operation and promised not to cry if given a candy Easter rabbit. He kept his promise.

THOUSANDS ATTEND OPENING OF REVIVAL IN CHARLOTTE, N. C.

Charlotte, N. C., April 4.—(Special.) At the two opening services of the Chapman-Alexander revival here today, more than 12,000 people attended. A great audience greeted Dr. Chapman at his Easter sermon this afternoon. A large number of people were unable to get into the tabernacle tonight.

The tabernacle, like the one in Atlanta, is located in the center of the city and accommodates more than 6,500 people.

The five weeks' campaign of the Chapman-Alexander forces is now thoroughly organized here. Six hundred personal workers are enrolled and a choir has been organized consisting of one thousand voices.

This is the first big revival which has been held in Charlotte in twenty-five years, and the interest which pervades the city is great.

FIRST MONEY STATEMENT BY THE MORMON CHURCH

Salt Lake City, Utah, April 4.—The first public financial statement ever issued by the Mormon church was presented today before the annual conference. The report shows that the church collected $1,887,920 from tithes in 1914, of which $730,960 was expended on church buildings, $330,984 to maintain the church schools, $64,508 to maintain the Mormon temple, $227,900 for missionary work, $89,293 to maintain church officers, $136,727 to complete and maintain the hospital in Salt Lake City and $116,238 to the poor.

The report also shows that Mormon relief societies and local church organizations gave $150,290 additional for the relief of the poor, and that the European war relief fund of the church amounted to $33,000. The report shows a net increase in the membership of the church of 129,943. The total membership is not given.

The report shows that 1,316 men and 11[illegible] women are engaged in Mormon missionary work.

BUILDING ZEPPELINS FOR RAID ON LONDON

Geneva, April 4.—(Via Paris.)—The tenth Zeppelin airship, constructed at Friederichshafen, was given a successful trial above Lake Constance yesterday. This latest type seemed to be longer and narrower than the previous models and speedier. Apparently there is less space for the crew and for the carrying of bombs aboard the new craft.

Work has been started on an eleventh dirigible. Officers and men at the Zeppelin works are said to still hold the belief that a concentrated Zeppelin attack will be made on London and ships in the Thames.

FIRST STRAW HAT APPEARED SUNDAY IN EASTER PARADE

The first straw hat of the season made its timorous appearance in the early hours of Peachtree's fashion parade Easter morning. Not only was it distinguishing in itself, but its sartorial accompaniment, pearl gray suit, inflammatory necktie of carmine hue, gray gloves and a swagger stick, made it all the more pronounced.

It sat upon the yellow head of the first man to summon courage enough to venture forth beneath it in the slight chill of the early morning breeze. Later in the day, however, when the sun diffused a warmth that invited all manner of mankind to the streets, it was joined by at least five companions.

SHIP SENT TO BOTTOM BY GERMAN SUBMARINE

Four Members of Crew Drowned Steamer Sunk Off Land's End.

London, April 4.—The steamer City of Bremen, of Dublin, has been sunk by a German submarine off Wolf Rock, in the English channel, about fifteen miles south of Land's End, Cornwall. Four members of the crew were drowned. Twelve survivors have reached Penzance.

Available shipping records do not contain the name of the steamer City of Bremen, of Dublin.

AUSTRIAN STEAMER DESTROYED BY MINE.

Paris, April 4.—Thirty-five of the crew were drowned by the destruction of the unidentified Austrian steamer which blew up in the Danube on the night of March 30, after striking a mine near Ritopek. According to a Havas dispatch from Nish.

It is believed the steamer was loaded with a large quantity of munitions and artillery supplies for Turkey. The wreck was carried by the current within range of the Serbian artillery at Ritopek. Another explosion followed the bombardment of the hull and the wrecked vessel sank.

Before leaving Nish the captain is reported to have reminded the members of his crew that they had an important mission to fulfill and each sailor received a bonus.

Nish, April 4.—(Via London, April 5, 3:21 a. m.)—An official statement issued today says:

"The Austrian ammunition ship Belgrade sank in the Danube, opposite Ritopek, on the night of March 30. An explosion was caused aboard the Belgrade by the Serbian gunfire. Of a crew of nearly forty, only two were saved."

GERMAN SHIP SUNK BY MINE IN BALTIC.

London, April 5.—(1:18 a. m.)—A Reuter dispatch from Stockholm says the German steamer Grete Hemsoth struck a mine in the Baltic and sank, and that twenty-five members of her crew were drowned.

The Grete Hemsoth was a vessel of 1,554 tons. She was engaged in traffic between Sweden and Germany.

TWO GERMAN SHIPS SUNK BY MINES.

London, April 5.—(2:02 a. m.)—A dispatch from Malmo, Sweden, says Reuter's Copenhagen correspondent asserts that two German coasting steamers, during the last few days, have struck floating mines and sunk in the Baltic, in immediate proximity to the route between Trelleborg and Sassnitz, with which points traffic has been suspended temporarily. The crews of the steamers were saved. Some of the men have been landed at Sassnitz."

MORTUARY

(All Funeral Notices Appear on Last Page.)

D. G. Dunn, Zebulon.

Zebulon, Ga., April 4.—(Special.)—After a brief illness, David G. Dunn, assistant cashier of the Bank of Zebulon, died here last night of pneumonia. The deceased was a son of Tax Collector Dunn of this county. He was 30 years old and leaves a young wife and child, three brothers and two sisters. Funeral services were conducted this afternoon by Rev. J. W. R. Jenkins, his pastor, at the Baptist church, assisted by Rev. J. W. King, of the Methodist church. A large concourse of people attended the funeral, attesting the esteem in which he was held.

LITTLE SPEAKS TODAY TO ATLANTA CHAMBER

In Afternoon Chemist Will Be Entertained at the University Club.

Arthur D. Little, a noted chemist of Boston, who has been entertained by the Georgia branch of the American Chemical society since his arrival in the city Sunday afternoon, will be the guest at a luncheon of the chamber of commerce at 12:30 o'clock today. Mr. Little will be the chief speaker.

In discussing "The Industrial Resources of the South," he will point out the possibilities for development along the chemical lines. Mr. Little is well acquainted with the southern states, where he has many interests in chemical concerns.

The University club will give a reception to Mr. and Mrs. Little Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock. The members of the club and their lady friends are invited. An invitation is also extended to members of the College Woman's association, Atlanta Pan Hellenic, Alliance Francaise, Writers' club and other organizations meeting at the club. It has been impossible for the committee in charge, which is composed of Edward Lyle, chairman; E. Lee Worsham and Warren Moise, to send notices to everybody, so the club officials decided to issue their invitation through The Constitution.

"CLEAN-UP" WEEK BEGINS

City Will Be Made Spotless for Grand Opera Season.

Make Atlanta a spotless city! This is the slogan of the Chamber of Commerce, the Federation of Women's Clubs, the Rotary club, Ad Men's club and other civic clubs, who ask the cooperation of every householder during the ensuing week, which has been set aside as "Clean-Up Week."

Chief John Jentzen, of the city sanitary department, has his extensive department in readiness and scores of carts will be ready to respond to calls from any part of the city, to haul trash and debris to the destructor plant.

Atlanta is expected to set a new record on cleanliness and every Atlantan's support will be needed. The school children have pledged to carry the work into their homes and to assist their teachers in cleaning up the school buildings and premises and everything will be shipshape for the entertainment of visitors during grand opera week.

Try This Goulash.

One cupful of fresh chopped beef fried in a little butter and one-half minced onion. Season with pepper and salt. Remove from fire and add one cup boiled rice and two chopped canned pimentos. Cover with one can of condensed tomato soup and simmer 30 minutes. You'll find this a tasty and pleasing dish for any meal in the day.

THE MORNING PAPER.

There could be no better or more conclusive testimony as to the value of the morning newspaper than that which comes from General Manager S. S. Carvalho of the Hearst publications, including both morning and afternoon papers printed in many leading cities of the United States.

Widely experienced in the handling and management of both classes of publications, Mr. Carvalho, called as a witness in a recent injunction proceding brought by Mr. Hearst in New York, had this to say of the comparative news value of the evening and morning papers:

"A large percentage of the news it (the evening paper) prints is in bulletin form and is not produced as a complete newspaper like one issued in the morning. The evening paper prints from three to eight editions, and one paper cannot beat another except by a few minutes in the matter of time. They exchange news. There is no copyright on news."

This is the testimony of one of the ablest newspaper men in the country—that the complete newspaper is the morning newspaper, and that the afternoon newspaper is necessarily a bulletin.

News in bulletin form, snatched from rumor, hurried from mouth to mouth to the first telegraph station, necessarily lacks that accuracy which proceeds from inquiry and verification. It has been proven every day during the progress of the European war. Bulletins have whipped the Germans and whipped the allies scores of times in blanket type, only to lose life and caste and truth when the "old reliable" comes along the morning after with the real facts in the case.

We have no word of disparagement for the afternoon paper. It fills its important, its essential field; it does its good work. It lacks the time often to get the facts; it must take the best it can get, and that best, in the very nature of things, is frequently rumor which must suffer contradiction when the facts are known.

The bulletin which may or may not be true—and who can tell when so often it has suffered contradiction?—undergoes investigation, and the true facts, in detail, are presented in the morning paper which has wide facilities for ascertaining them.

Mr. Carvalho's testimony will prove interesting and cumulative. It bears out The Constitution's oft-repeated contention: The public looks to the morning paper for the real news of the day.

GIRLS WHO BUILD.

The canning club girls offer to the people of Georgia a unique opportunity to advance the "living at home" doctrine and keep money within the state to the advantage of all concerned. Many of them last fall put up thousands of cans of tomatoes. Many of these they are now anxious to sell and they are approaching the state chamber of commerce to act as intermediary between them and the consumer.

It is superfluous to say that there is no better product than the home-made product when it is prepared under proper conditions. The fact that government demonstration agents in most cases supplied the formula for canning these tomatoes is a guarantee in the latter respect. When you buy canned goods from these Georgia girls, therefore, you are doing two things: you are getting a first-class article at the market price; you are inspiring that girl to broaden her operation the next year, encouraging her to become the first-class wife of a first-class farmer, to stay on the farm contented and happy, instead of pursuing a rather precarious existence as a working girl in the city.

The more one looks into the demonstration work done by the government with the co-operation of the state college of agriculture, the more significant and far-reaching the possibilities appear. The main thing that drives men and women from the country to the city is the belief that they can make more money in the latter; that they can escape the monotony and isolation that are the two bugaboos of rural life. Increase the revenue-producing power of men and women in the country and you remove a prolific source of discontent. You also put in their hands the means to buy those conveniences and facilities that are antidotes for monotony. You plant a germinating spirit of hope which may ripen into a harvest that time alone can compute.

The idea back of the movement is not confined to tomato clubs, corn or pig clubs. It runs the rural gamut and means a revolution in rural life. That is why it is to the pocketbook interest of every man and woman in Georgia to encourage these various movements among the farm youngsters of the state. They are helping themselves and they are helping a rising generation to become farm builders for tomorrow.

THE LITTLE INDUSTRIES.

Of the daily good results of the Atlanta Emergency Association for Unemployed Women, no one has proven more surely the value for the organization than the incident of the Atlanta merchant who gave to the chairman of one of the committees the contract to get two thousand dollars' worth of a certain kind of embroidery done. He had been sending heretofore all his linen sheets, cloths and napkins and small articles of household ware to the eastern markets, that initials and monograms might be embroidered upon them in the most expert fashion. He estimated that if this work could be done here by women experts in that line there would be a saving to the merchant and the buyer in the matter of the necessary shipping of the wares to the east and back that would accrue directly to the Atlanta market.

When the emergency association was opened it was found that more than two thirds of the women had children dependent upon them, and therefore would have preferred work they could do at home. The majority of them asked for sewing, and the majority of the leisure women who wanted work done wanted sewing. But in too many cases the women desiring the work were not efficient, and scarcely knew what their own qualifications were. This was noted in the emergency workshop, when at once a woman competent to instruct was engaged. At the headquarters at 19 Auburn avenue a competition in the embroidery of monograms, initials, etc., has been established, with a view to filling the contract of the Atlanta merchant. Of the many women who have brought samples of their work about one-tenth could produce good samples. But in every case there was a desire to learn. Suggestions have been made and a gradual improvement in samples daily brought encourage the association to believe that within the year there will be a number of women in Atlanta well enough equipped to fill the contract of the Atlanta merchant, doing the work in their own homes.

This is only one of the many little industries that women can accomplish at home developed through the agency of the Emergency Association for Unemployed Women.

THE PRICE OF THE FIGHT.

Life is work and play with Rev. Billy Sunday, and at their proper seasons he is as earnest with one as with the other. "Resting up" at Winona Lake, he said to a Chicago Tribune representative:

> "If any of those delegations of preachers that I've been wiring to keep away from here insist on coming they won't find me. I'm going to play medicine ball, rake leaves and frolic with the squirrels."

But the reporter told him that he had been criticised as a capitalizer of religion from a mercenary standpoint, and he wanted to hear from him on that point. Then he warmed up. He said he didn't know what his income was; that the newspapers knew, and he didn't; he hadn't kept any statistics in twenty years; all he knew was that he gave one-tenth of all that he received to the cause of the religion he preached. But he made this enlightening statement on the money question:

> "Here they go and holler because I make more money than some other preachers. They might as well holler because some one doctor or some one lawyer makes more than others of the same profession. Johnny Kilbane and somebody else go in and fight for 15 minutes in a prize ring at $5,500 a side. That's $305.50 a minute for each prize fighter for the time he puts in.
>
> "Were I paid for the time I put in on the platform fighting the devil at the rate these men are paid for fighting each other, my campaign in Philadelphia would have brought me $7,000,000."

Philadelphia seems satisfied with the Billy Sunday investment—whatever it was; and certainly it was worth $4,000,000 to start the glad old town on the good road!

England may mount the water wagon, but some of the sly old tapsters will console themselves with the thought that it's a short way to Slipperary.

If Mexico accepts Huerta's sword she may hang it in the hall of back numbers and let it go at that.

March went sullen and sour-faced because he wasn't lionized.

Doubtful honors are being conferred on war heroes, notably the naming of streets for them in cities not yet taken.

And now England swats "booze" from king to commoner. Its only loyal friend seems to be the celebrated person who "never blamed the booze."

The poor missionaries are getting theirs. The warring heathen are not only godless, but hungry.

JUST from GEORGIA

By FRANK L. STANTON

He Ain't A-fussin'.

I

I ain't a-fussin' when the spring
Don't give the birds a chance to sing,
When winds are howlin' far and free
'Crost fields where wild flowers ought to be,
And if a bird is in its nest
It feels the snow against its breast
And finds no sunny place to rest.

II

I say, I ain't a-fussin' round;
I keep my head and hold my ground
As if I heard the weather say:
"Sometimes I like to have my way
With sunshine, or a rainy day,
And cut up just like people do.
I ain't much different from you."

III

And so I hold my peace and wait
Until a latch clinks on a gate,
Where Spring for sure is passing through
With dress trimmed bright in violets blue
And all her songbirds singing 'round her.
And then I thank my stars I've found her!

Boy-Author's First Novel.

"Not every author regards his initial work with fondness," says the literary reviewer of The Chicago Herald. But Holworthy Hall (Harold E. Porter) is an exception. He says of his first novel:

"Wrote first novel at age of eight. Civil war romance. Hero began as private. Killed a confederate and was made corporal. Killed another confederate, a rather large one, and was promoted sergeant. So on, ad infinitum, until he emerged generalissimo. Best thing structurally I've ever done—clearness, force and ease; unity, mass and coherence; and a wallop on every page."

James Wells, "The Printer-Poet," sings of "The Vision," in The Dalton Citizen:

"In church I sought the risen Christ

Who gathered there with incense rare
To greet the Lord in state.

"I found Him not, but passing on
I hushed an orphan's cry,
When lo! a vision bright appeared
And Christ said, 'Here am I.'"

The Hills of Georgia.

I

Each radiant morn, the Georgia Hills
Gleam bright and fresh-sun-kissed,
But late at eve they stand enveiled
A sheen of amber mist—
The old "Red Hills," where sunset spills
His glory and his glamour.
I love them all—both great and small—
Through winter and through summer!

II

In spring, wild flowers bud and bloom
Beneath such turquoise skies—
And fringe the hill-side's shady gloom
With all their gorgeous dyes—
In dulcet runes, and eerie tunes,
The truant airs and birds
Sing Georgia Hills—the old "Red Hills"—
In songs too sweet for words.

III

And Katy-dids, all summer through,
With other songsters chime
Till Autumn spreads her golden hue
About these hills of time.
Bright bramble-vine and moss entwine—
How beautiful to see!
Oh, Georgia Hills, ah old "Red Hills,"
Forever dear to me!

—AUGUSTA WALL.

The Holland Letter

Counsel who has been retained by Cass Ledyard, who is one of the defendants in the prosecution of a considerable number of the former directors of the New Haven Railroad company for alleged conspiracy in violation of the Sherman law, asked the federal courts a day or two ago for at least three months' time, saying that as much as that was necessary for the preparation of his defense. The counsel in justification of this plea stated that the government had more than two years to prepare its side of the case. To this the assistant United States district attorney, Frank M. Swacker, replied that it was true that the government started the investigation more than two years ago, but that the attorney general at that time, George W. Wickersham, suddenly caused the investigation to be stopped.

The attorney general to whom Mr. Swacker thus alluded was the counsel who represented Mr. Ledyard in this case, George W. Wickersham. He did not deign to pay any heed to the remark which Mr. Swacker made.

Mr. Wickersham's appearance as counsel for Mr. Ledyard in these criminal proceedings was the first intimation the public had that he had been retained in this case. There was, of course, when this became known, general comment that an investigation which began when Mr. Wickersham was attorney general and which was resumed by his successor in that office, justifying, as the government in Washington thinks, criminal prosecution of the New Haven directors, is now followed by Mr. Wickersham's appearance as counsel for one of the defendants.

There was no surprise in railway circles that Mr. Wickersham should have been called upon to defend his lifelong friend and professional brother, Lewis Cass Ledyard. The appearance of Mr. Wickersham as counsel for the defense and that of ex-Senator John C. Spooner, who is also numbered among defendant's counsel—infuses great interest in these prosecutions. Senator Spooner, even before he retired from the United States senate, was strongly persuaded that administrations at Washington prior to the present one were disposed to construe the Sherman anti-trust law altogether too rigidly.

Strange Experiences.

Mr. Wickersham must have had some rather strange experiences since he retired from the department of justice. He has been brought into association with men of prominence whom he caused to be prosecuted. He is one of the vice presidents of an association which numbers among its other vice presidents Charles F. Brooker and Herbert L. Satterlee. These two men were of unimpeached business and personal reputations when the department of justice saw fit, under Mr. Wickersham, to cause criminal prosecutions against them and sixty others of like character to be instituted. They were all indicted and fined a thousand dollars apiece, although they had voluntarily dissolved the pool for organizing which they were prosecuted two years earlier, doing that because they had been advised by competent counsel that the arrangement might be a violation of the Sherman law. Neither of these men feel very pleasantly about these prosecutions. An indictment for a criminal offense stands against these men's records in their view, although they were conscious of no guilt when the action which the government objected to was taken.

The trial of the New Haven company directors will be, in the best sense of the term, even more sensational than that of the directors of the American Sugar Refining company, because the New Haven directorate as a whole was composed of men of greater distinction and influence than were those of the directorate of the so-called sugar trust. Eleven out of twelve jurors in the sugar case voted for acquittal, and that majority was so great as to persuade the government that it would be the better part to drop the proceedings. Lewis Cass Ledyard, whom Mr. Wickersham is to defend, ranks with the ablest lawyers of New York, and as a citizen and man his career has often been pointed to as well worthy of imitation.

Making Smaller Directorates.

If Norman B. Ream were now alive he would read with interest the announcement that the American Telephone and Telegraph company has reduced its board of directors, so that it now numbers seventeen instead of twenty-five. Mr. Ream was persuaded some years ago that it was a mistake for large corporations to make choice of large boards of directors. He felt that the United States Steel corporation would be just as well managed if its directorate were reduced and he used sometimes to intimate that, in fact, the management of that great corporation was substantially in the hands of no more than seven men, whom he was accustomed to name. To elect a man as director conferred, in Mr. Ream's opinion, an obligation and responsibility upon him which in many cases were not recognized by those who were elected. They felt it to be a badge of honor to be named among the directors of a big corporation, and with that they were content.

The tendency recently has been to reduce the number of directors in large corporations and some have thought that in this way the accusations which have been leveled against interlocking directorates would be made of no avail by the voluntary action of a large corporation in reducing its boards.

Those who are in position to make a good estimate are inclined to think that the late William D. Sloane died possessed of much less than ten millions, and that his estate will upon inventory be found not much, if any, in excess of five millions. Mr. Sloane was frequently numbered among the citizens of New York who possessed a great many millions. The tendency is usually to overestimate the amount of the estate of a rich man. The bulk of his estate goes to his widow, who is one of the daughters of the late William H. Vanderbilt, and to their children. Mr. Sloane would have been esteemed a wealthy man, for he was at the head of a very flourishing business, even though his wife had not brought to him a large fortune. Mrs. Sloane is understood, however, to have maintained possession, at Mr. Sloane's wish, and personal control over much the greater part of her share in her father's estate. The bequests made by Mr. Sloane are a little over $170,000. As he was a man of large philanthropies it seemed to some as though the amount of these bequests did not fully sustain his reputation as a large and generous giver. The fact is, however, that he gave principally during his lifetime and the munificence of his benefactions is shown by his contribution, in association with his brother Henry, of nearly five hundred thousand dollars for the establishment and endowment of the great laboratory at Yale university.

HOLLAND.

RIPPLING RHYMES

By WALT MASON.

REIGN OF MUD.

The weather was a thing of dread, week after week; all men complained; the clouds were always overhead, and every other hour it rained. Then ducks and alligators laughed, the bullfrog raised a cheerful sound; the rural postman, on a raft, still tried to make his weary round. There was no bottom to the road; a muddy stream, it struck the eye; six horses scarce could pull a load that one would pull when it was dry. I heard the dismal farmers croak, "We're ruined if this thing keeps on; already we are nearly broke—the profits of a year are gone." I tried to show that endless rain was what the country needed most; I talked in optimistic strain, the while I leaned against a post. "This is no time for sunshine talk," the farmers said; "it's vain, indeed, while we must watch our starving stock, because we cannot haul in feed. If you turn loose a joyous flood of language, while our hearts are sore, we'll push you headfirst in the mud, and you will dance and sing no more." And that's the luck I always have, when up against colossal grief; my sunny words don't seem a salve, my chortling does not bring relief.

Ponderous Personages—Raymond Poincare.

By GEORGE FITCH,
Author of "At Good Old Siwash."

Raymond Poincare is a quiet Frenchman who does not seem to have much to do in these tumultuous European days. He is almost the only Frenchman who is out of a job. While millions of his countrymen are fighting in the trenches and other millions are doing double work at home he is condemned to a life of luxurious idleness. All he has to do is to be president of France.

Being president of France is like being vice president of the United States. It is a sort of honorary interment, wished upon some patriotic citizen. The king of England, the emperor of Germany and the czar of Russia are all extremely busy these days with army matters. But if President Poincare were to wander into the trenches and order an army to advance on the foe he would be slapped on the wrist and sent back to Paris with a warning.

France doesn't trust a president any more than she does a king. When we elect a president we turn the government over to him and only ask him to present a message once a year and tell us the results. But when France elects a president she moves him into a large palace, provides him with plenty of food and uniforms and asks him kindly to shut up and play dead for seven years.

Before Poincare was president he was a very powerful man. He was premier of France and could run everything in the country. It was a severe blow to step down from this proud place and become president, but he was patriotic and did it. He is the most president France has had, but that isn't saying much. He is about as much president as Mr. Tumulty of Washington.

M. Poincare is 55 years old and was born in Bar le duc, where the gooseberries come from. He was a cabinet minister at 33 and has been something important ever since until he got into the presidency. He has been a senator. He is a member of the academy. He has filled places in several cabinets. He is an author of note. He is still comparatively young and it is believed that when he gets out of the Elysee palace he will obtain some public position and endeavor to rise again to power. Still he has a long time to wait. French presidents serve seven years and do not get any time off for good behavior.

She asks him kindly to shut up and play dead for seven years.

As Long as His Rivers Flow Into the Sea

By Ernest Neal

(For The Constitution.)

Have you heard of the land of the Cherokees
With its wonderful streams and beautiful trees?
Of its flowers abloom, and the wild perfume
That floats like a dream on the evening breeze?

Have you heard of Echota, the capital town,
And the grand old chief with feathery crown?
Of the warrior band, and the pow-wow grand
In the light of the moon when the sun goes down?

Far away in the past this quaint land lies,
And around it the Mountains of Years arise;
It is only in dreams we may hear the shrill screams
Of its eagles afloat in their native skies.

But its rivers glide on in rhythmic flow
Through fields of today from a weird long-ago;
The slow Connesauga, the clear Oostanaula,
Like their musical names gargle soft and low.

In the laughing of the ripples of the sweet Salacoa,
In the falling of the waters of the silvery Toccoa,
In the roarings of Tallulah and the splashings of Yahulah
Are the wild and varied volumes of a never-written lore.

And we list to the song of the sad Etowah,
In his voice is a sob—a refrain from afar—
While the rough Chattahoochee makes love to Nacoochee
In the shade of the Vale of the Evening Star.

From the gold-bearing mountains comes the rich Chestatee;
Through the valleys of the west glides the Coosawattee;
In their music shall roll the Indian soul
As long as his rivers flow into the sea.

Republican Possibilities.

(From Collier's Weekly.)

However the democrats may feel about it, and whatever the progressive and the independent voter may have in the back of his head, the republicans regard the presidential election of 1916 as a plum which they merely need to pluck for themselves. The recent session of congress was hardly over, and the members had not reached their homes, before at least eight separate booms were on foot for the republican nomination. As to these eight, it may be said with complete accuracy either that each of them is himself out avowedly for the nomination, or else that his friends are working actively for him, with or without his assent:

Ex-Senator Theodore Burton of Ohio.
Senator John W. Weeks of Massachusetts.
Ex-Governor Myron T. Herrick of Ohio.
Senator William Alden Smith of Michigan.
Senator Albert B. Cummins of Iowa.
Speaker James R. Mann of Illinois.
Senator Lawrence Y. Sherman of Illinois.
Ex-Vice President Fairbanks of Indiana.

It does not follow that any one of these men is going to be the republican nominee. Neither do we mean to say that these are all the booms that are going to develop. It is merely recorded as a matter of present history that each of these men is a candidate. Most of them are candidates in the sense that they have avowed themselves as such to groups of people, large or small. The remainder are candidates in the sense that there are energetic groups of people working in their behalf. (Incidentally, the discriminating reader will understand that some of these booms are to be taken with much more seriousness than some others.)

Suggesting a Service.

(From The Philadelphia Ledger.)

When the monster United States fleet attacks New York, it might do the country a service by capturing Thaw and conveying him to a desert island where there are no lawyers.

With the Exchanges

GOOD MORNING AND GOOD EVENING.

(From The Haverhill Gazette.)

The apostles of cheerfulness and kindness are abroad once more. Good Morning and Good Evening clubs are organizing in cities of the west with the purpose of expelling the chilly indifference which exists between men who meet each other day after day on the streets, in cars, in offices, etc., and yet who have never formed the pleasant habit of giving a smiling nod of recognition. We are all familiar with the condition of things which stirs this latent sense of good fellowship. In every residence neighborhood there are men who always take the same street cars downtown in the morning and frequently the same cars back at night. These same masculine atoms gather day after day and look at each other with deadfish eyes until the situation first becomes embarrassing and then hateful. Yet many of these atoms only require the presence of another atom—the "Good Morning" atom—when, presto! the magic effect of the social unbending is seen in a chummy group of friends, a molecule of neighborliness. All men of similar interests ase pretty much alike. Once the crust of formality is broken, almost any group of men may be friendly. Men become reserved, not to say suspicious, by force of habit. It is an unfortunate and unjustifiable habit and often leads to development of that unspeakable community nuisance—the neighborhood grouch.

THE BLUES.

(From The Detroit News.)

Happiness and unhappiness are irrational. They are outside of theorizing or philosophy. A trivial incident sends our spirits up or down.

"Thinking backward" is how the Germans describe melancholia. The loneliness that is expressed in crowded places, and the yearning for days gone by or for far-off scenes creep unannounced into the heart.

Real troubles do not kill the joy of living. Catastrophe and hardship challenge the soul to combat and there is a grim pleasure in meeting and grappling with adversity. The slumping of precious illusions, the chilling fogs of misunderstanding, jealousy, envy and self-pity pile up at times to obscure the vision. Illusions which are our playthings and our reason to be alive, no longer gleam and glisten. Drab reality supplants the radiant ideal.

Every person has believed in his inmost mind that he had a monopoly of sorrow and tribulation. "No one as oppressed as I walks this earth," complains the unsophisticated wayfarer. Fatalists there be who argue that no one is happier than anyone else, and that he who goes down to the depths of woe merely is paying for his ascent to the pinnacles of bliss.

MADE IN AMERICA.

(From The Pittsburg Dispatch.)

Central Illinois cheesemakers are profiting by the war. Certain grades of cheese heretofore imported from Switzerland are now being made in the United States and resemble the formerly imported article so closely, though at a lower price, that it is predicted the foreign trade will never be sought again.

How many other imported articles, shut off by the war, are being replaced by goods made in America? In not a few cases, no doubt, the American product is masquerading as imported just as it always did, but is not an excellent time to abandon this pretense and to come out openly and boldly for American manufactures? This course would seem dictated by sound business judgment. If the American article is substituted for the now unobtainable foreign article it will leave the way open for a resumption of foreign competition when the war ends. On the other hand, if the American manufacturer, for the time in exclusive control of the home market, pushes his own "made in America" goods under their true colors and thus convinces the public of their equaling or surpassing the imported goods, he will be the better able to hold his own market when the foreigner is again able to compete.

WILLIAM PENN'S MEASUREMENTS.

(From The Philadelphia Press.)

The height of the statue of William Penn on Philadelphia city hall is 37 feet, and it weighs 52,400 pounds. It was cast in Philadelphia in 47 pieces, and so skilfully joined that the most careful inspection fails to detect the junctures. It was placed in position in sections.

The hat is 3 feet in diameter, rim 23 feet in circumference; nose 13 inches long, eyes 12 inches long and 4 inches wide, mouth from corner to corner 1 foot, face from hat to chin 3 feet 3 inches, hair 4 feet long, shoulders 28 feet in circumference and 15 feet in diameter, waist 24 feet in circumference and 8 feet 9 inches in diameter and 4 feet long, fingers 2 feet 6 inches in circumference, 3 feet in diameter and 4 feet long, finger nails 3 inches long, legs from ankle to knee 10 feet, ankle 5 feet in circumference, calf of legs 8 feet 18 inches in circumference, feet 22 inches wide, 5 feet 4 inches long.

SOLE PRISONER PAROLED.

(Georgetown (Del.) Dispatch to The New York Herald.)

Elwood Armstrong, the sole prisoner in the Sussex county jail here, who recently complained to Sheriff Jacob West that he was lonely and afraid to remain in the prison at night without company, will no longer be afraid.

Today he was paroled for two years to Charles S. Richards, of Georgetown, formerly secretary of state and brother of Robert H. Richards, of Wilmington, formerly attorney general. This was done after he had confessed to the theft of five dozen eggs.

Accordingly, the jail is now empty. The turnkey has taken a vacation and the sheriff does not have enough to do to keep him busy.

Chickens are roosting in the cells, some of which are modern steel affairs, and the jail yard will soon be planted in early corn.

WOODCHUCK ATTACKS MAN.

(Middletown (N. Y.) Dispatch to The New York World.)

Crossing a field on a farm near Sussex, Hiram Rupture stepped into the hole of a woodchuck and was unable to extricate his foot.

The animal rushed to the mouth of the hole and bit the man's leg. Rupture screamed for help. He had about given up hope of relief when several passers-by heard him and hurried to his aid. He was not seriously injured.

THAT'S ANOTHER QUESTION.

(From The New York World.)

Ex-Secretary of War Stimson is quite right in telling The Yale News that it might become easy for several nations in Europe and one in the Orient to land an invading army on our shores within a short time. But what about the possibility of landing an army big enough to get a firm footing before being eaten up?

AT HIS TRUE VALUE.

(From The Louisville Courier-Journal.)

Maybe the congressman who proposes federal regulation of films fears that somebody will photograph him "life size" among his colleagues and show the picture in the district where he has posed as a giant.

BETTER PAYING CROP.

(From The Chicago News.)

If young men who have been sowing wild oats, wish to make amends and make good their losses, let them sow tame wheat.

WAY AHEAD OF HIM.

(From The Columbia State.)

General Chao has started for Tampico. General Chaos has been there for some time.

PARDONED WIFE-SLAYER GAINS CONSCIOUSNESS

Roger McCall to Be Taken Home—Can Live But Short Time.

Macon, Ga., April 4.—(Special.)—Roger L. McCall, the nonagenarian wife murderer who was reported to be in a dying condition Saturday at the state prison farm and who was pardoned by long distance telephone by Governor Slaton, who called up the warden from Chattanooga, where he was attending the Dixie highway convention, has regained his consciousness and today the news of his pardon was broken to him by his son and daughter, who went from Macon for the purpose. They have arranged to have the aged man removed from the farm, and he will be brought to Macon tomorrow.

McCall is said to be desperately ill, and is expected to live only a short time. He is 90 years of age. Two years ago, while under the influence of whisky, he shot his wife with a shotgun while she lay asleep in bed. He then got into bed and went to sleep, where he was later found by the officers.

LOVING TRIBUTE PAID TO LATE JUDGE BROWN

Canton, Ga., April 4.—(Special.)—Memorial exercises were held here today at the First Baptist church commemorative of the life and services of the late Judge James Brown. There was a large crowd in attendance, and among those who delivered the addresses were Rev. T. F. Scoggins, superintendent of the Georgia Baptists' Orphan home at Hapeville; Rev. B. D. Gray, corresponding secretary of the Georgia Baptists' home mission board; Hon. R. T. Jones, from the business men of Canton; Colonel R. W. Coleman, representing the Canton bar. The tributes paid to the life, character and achievements of Judge Brown were very beautiful. A feature of the exercises was a song of honor of Judge Brown by a quartet of girls from the Orphans' home at Hapeville, of which Judge Brown was a large benefactor. Judge Brown had been a consistent and faithful member of the Canton Baptist church from early manhood, and his liberal donations to the cause of missions, foreign and home, and his large contributions to other causes of the Baptist denomination made him a leader in his church.

BUTTS COUNTY FARMERS CUTTING DOWN COTTON

Jackson, Ga., April 4.—(Special.)—That the farmers of Butts county will reduce their cotton acreage this year from 15 to 35 per cent is the estimate made by well informed planters from every part of the county. In some portions of the county the cut will amount to one-third in cotton acreage and one-half in fertilizers, while in other parts of the county the proportion will not be that great. All farmers are agreed, however, that there will be a decided cut in the acreage and in fertilizers known in a generation.

MISS EMMA BAILEY MARRIES MR. SNEED

Macon, Ga., April 4.—(Special.)—Jesse L. Sneed, of Atlanta, and Miss Emma Bailey, of Palmetto, Ga., were married today at the residence of Dr. W. N. Ainsworth, pastor of the Millers Methodist church. They left for Atlanta on an afternoon train.

COTTON IN SPALDING IS GREATLY REDUCED

Griffin, Ga., April 4.—(Special.)—The cotton acreage in Spalding county has been materially cut this year. Reports from the various militia districts indicate that the cotton crop has been cut by half the production of last year. In some instances the farmers have not planted any cotton at all, and in many instances they are devoting themselves to truck farming, the planting of grain and the raising of cattle and hogs.

WAYCROSS HIGHWAYMAN ATTACKS NEILL M'QUEEN

Waycross, Ga., April 4.—(Special.)—Neill McQueen, wealthy business man of Ludowici, here on a visit to relatives, reported to the police today that he was assaulted and robbed Saturday night on Brunel street, a few blocks from the Union station. He was struck with either brass knucks or some blunt instrument in the face, receiving a gash. He was rendered unconscious, and when he came to found a white man standing near him. Mr. McQueen's request for a carriage was complied with. A small amount of change was taken. He had forgotten his watch when he left home.

Hookworm Campaign.

Jackson, Ga., April 4.—(Special.)—A month's campaign against the hook worm is now on in this county, the work being carried on by the state board of health and the county. Dr. F. D. Rodgers has charge of this campaign, and he plans to visit every part of the county and make a large number of examinations. During the first of each week he will visit the country schools and on Saturdays will be found at the courthouse in Jackson.

State Geologist's Report On Waterways of Georgia

A most important statement was given out last Saturday from the office of S. W. McCall, the state geologist, concerning the waterways of Georgia.

The state geologist received a few days ago the final report on the ground waters of the coastal plain of Georgia, and it is of the greatest interest and importance to all the people who own land south of Augusta, Macon and Columbus, for the Atlantic and gulf coastal plain is embraced in the section south of the cities named.

Mr. McCallie says that in 1908 the geological survey of Georgia, in cooperation with the United States geological survey, began the investigation of the coastal plain of the state. The result of that work has been published in two reports. The report on the geology of the coastal plain was issued in June, 1911. The report on the ground waters of the coastal plain has just been issued.

Mr. McCallie states that nothing can be of greater concern to many people of Georgia than the following from the United States department of the interior concerning the ground waters report:

Water Supply Great Resource.

"One of the highly important natural resources of a state, and one that is not always thoroughly appreciated, is its water supply. An abundance of water suitable for drinking and for general domestic and industrial purposes plays a part that can scarcely be overestimated in the health, progress, and prosperity of a community. State and federal geological surveys are charged with the duty of determining the nature and extent of water supplies.

"More than half the state of Georgia—the part lying south of a line passing through Augusta, Macon and Columbus—is included in the physiographic and geologic division known as the Atlantic and gulf coastal plain, which slopes from a maximum elevation of about 600 feet on the northwest to sea level on the southeast. This vast lowland supports a rapidly-increasing population, which in 1910 amounted in round numbers to 1,300,000 people, or about half the population of the state. Because of the importance of water supplies to these people the United States geological survey, in cooperation with the geological survey of Georgia, has during recent years been studying the ground water supplies of the area, and the results of the investigations have just been published by the federal survey as water supply paper 241, by L. W. Stephenson, Otto Veatch, and R. B. Dole.

Full Report on Waterways.

"The report, which embraces more than 500 pages, treats of the geologic occurrence, the character, and the quantity of the ground waters and the extent to which they have already been developed. Two maps accompany the report, one showing in colors the surface distribution of the geologic formations and the other the location and depth of wells and the areas in which the conditions are favorable for obtaining flowing artesian wells. The hydrologic map indicates in a striking manner that in the castel plain the static head is great enough to cause the ground waters to overflow at the surface in the lowlands near the coast, and in the valleys of the larger streams but not great enough to produce flows on the uplands between the streams.

Production of Artesian Pressure.

"Two profile sections show the geologic structure of the coastal plain to be monoclinal, the general dip of the formations being from the landward side southward and southwestward toward the Gulf of Mexico and the Atlantic ocean. The conditions are therefore favorable for the production of artesian pressure. One part of the report treats of the chemical character of the waters. This chapter will be of great practical value to the consumers of water, whether it is required for manufacturing, plantation, or domestic uses. Some of the subjects treated are boiler supplies, the use of boiler compounds, domestic supplies, and methods of purifying and softening water.

"The report will be useful, not only to the present inhabitants of the Georgia coastal plain, but also to persons who contemplate moving to that region for the purpose of establishing industrial plants or engaging in agriculture. A copy may be obtained free on application to the director of the geological survey, Washington, D. C."

ARTILLERY BOYS TO MEET TONIGHT TO PLAN MINSTREL

A call has been issued for all of the boys of the Atlanta battalion of field artillery, national guard of Georgia, to meet tonight at the Auditorium-Armory to make final plans for the big minstrel and musical extravaganza which will be held under the auspices of the artillery on April 15, at the Atlanta theater, to raise funds to carry the battery to San Francisco.

Under the direction of Robert Grant Mangum, lieutenant of the battery, plans will be decided on Monday night for several military "stunts" which will be included in the program. Forty or fifty of the young men will form a detachment appearing on the stage in military maneuvers of some nature, and the exact character of the military program will be definitely decided at the meeting.

Classes of instruction in artillery maneuvers will be held regularly between now and the 15th. Lieutenant R. M. Bailey and Sergeant R. F. V. Rudd being in charge of the instruction. In addition to the meeting of the battery Monday night, the committee in charge of the minstrel and musical features to the program will also meet, and under the direction of W. J. Hogan, formerly of Haverly's minstrels, of Chicago, the program will be at once perfected.

WILL DISCUSS RESULTS OF CHAPMAN MEETINGS

The regular monthly meeting of the Evangelical Ministers association will be held this morning at 10:30 o'clock in the First Baptist church, Rev. A. M. Hughlett, president, presiding. The devotional exercises will be led by the Rev. F. H. Gaines, president Agnes Scott college. The subject for the day will be, "How Best Conserve the Good Results of the Recent Chapman Meetings." Three pastors who have lately been called to important pulpits, the Rev. Robert Ivey, pastor Georgia Avenue Presbyterian church; the Rev. G. W. Du Vall, Payne Methodist Episcopal, south, and the Rev. J. L. White, Baptist Tabernacle, will make short talks.

DRUNKEN NEGRO AMUCK ON WAYCROSS STREET

Waycross, Ga., April 4.—(Special.)—After he had tanked up on whisky today, Elza Ford, a negro, secured a pistol and tried to wipe out a corner gathering on lower Reynolds street. His aim was bad, and none of the shots took effect. The police caught Ford.

WILLIAMSON MARSHAL JAILED FOR SHOOTING

Williamson, Ga., April 4.—(Special.)—Herman Pitts was shot last night by Bunk Armistead, town marshal. The result of the wound cannot be determined at this time, but it is considered serious. The marshal claims self-defense. He was arrested and jailed.

Douglas Negro Killed.

Douglas, Ga., April 4.—(Special.)—Frank Dees, drinking, was ordered away from Henry Watte's house Friday night. Insulted thereby, he returned with a loaded gun and was shot dead while advancing with gun leveled on Watts. The coroner's jury, finding a gun in the grip of the dead man, loaded and cocked, rendered a verdict of justifiable homicide. Both are colored.

NOISES ARE ENDED IN SLEEPING CARS BY RAILWAY ORDER

Unnecessary noises which are likely to disturb passengers in sleeping cars, placed in stations for occupancy during the early hours of the night, have been put under the ban by the Southern railway.

Rigid orders have been issued in regard to the ringing of bells by switch engines and loud talking by porters and other employees, a campaign for the suppression of unnecessary noises having been inaugurated by Vice President and General Manager Coapman. At stations where sleeping cars are placed notices were posted as follows:

"Sleeping car berths on this train are prepared for occupancy at (time). Kindly avoid all loud conversations or other noise in or around sleeping cars after that hour."

The results have been so satisfactory as to eliminate almost entirely complaints from passengers arising from annoyances of this character.

YOUTHS NEAR DEATH WHEN MOTORCYCLE TOSSES TWO RIDERS

When the motorcycle of Pawnee Scott, age 19, of 1106 Marietta street crashed over a railroad bridge on Marietta road, near Inman Yards, Sunday afternoon, he saved his life by clasping the rail of the bridge as he was thrown high into the air.

Frightened, more than hurt, Scott held fast to his hold, and pulled himself back to safety. A second later, a fast speeding, outgoing passenger train passed beneath him.

Claude Ware, age 18, of 47 Alma avenue, who was driving the motorcycle, was not so fortunate as his friend, who was riding on the rear seat. Ware was thrown into the bridge rail, and his right hip dislocated and broken in two places. He was rushed to the Grady hospital.

"The machine became uncontrolable," said Ware. "I was trying to throw in the clutch to slow down for the bridge. Something went wrong, and the motor sped faster, instead of slowing down. When I struck the bridge the machine bounced a couple of feet into the air, and I lost control of the steering bars."

AT THE THEATERS

"A Pair of Sixes."

(At the Atlanta.)

This morning at 9 o'clock seats will be placed on sale at the Atlanta for the engagement of "A Pair of Sixes," which will be shown Thursday, Friday and Saturday, with a matinee Saturday afternoon. This is unquestionably one of the funniest farces written in many years and deals with the adventures of two young partners in the pill making business. A fine love story runs through it and genuine heart interest is freely intermingled with absurdly funny situations which keep one laughing continually. It will be given in Atlanta by a most excellent company of which Oscar Figman is the lead. Mr. Figman has appeared here in many plays and is well known. Among the women Jane Meredith is exceptionally pretty and vivacious.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

Harry Beresford, supported by an all-star cast in the delightful dramatic oddity, "Twenty Odd Years," heads an impressive Easter bill at the Forsyth this week. George Felix and the charming Barry girls offer "The Boy Next Door," and a dash of Felix's irresistible tom-foolery, the sort that has made him famous from coast to coast. Alberta Moore and Myrtle Young, two of vaudeville's prettiest faces and cleverest dancers, will be one of the bill's biggest hits. The Six American Dancers is an act of rare quality, three girls and a trio of fancy male steppers. "The Lunatic Bakers" is the hilarious acrobatic act presented by the Joe Boganny Troupe. The Original Billy Van is one of the offerings of the program, and the Musical MacLaurens close the show.

"Valley of the Missing."

(At the Grand.)

Every scene staged and photographed upon Georgia spots of interest, principally Augusta and surrounding territory, the famous William Fox film, "From the Valley of the Missing," will be the offering at the Grand theater today and tomorrow. The story was written by Grace Miller White. The cast is a creditable one, headed by Jane Miller, supported by Clifford Bruce and Gladys Peck. The "Valley of the Missing" picture required three months to produce. Many familiar faces and figures of Augusta and the neighboring hamlets appear in the picture. For Wednesday and Thursday the Grand has booked Max Figman and Lolita Robertson in "Jack Chatty," the most virile American story yet filmed.

REV. RICHARD STINSON PREACHES ON EASTER

Rev. Richard D. Stinson, principal of the Atlanta Normal and Industrial institute, preached an Easter sermon Sunday at Allen Temple, second largest negro church in the south. He related the history of the day, using Scriptural references to support his statements.

He told of the death of the Christ, how He was laid away in the tomb and how He was resurrected on the third day, which has since been observed as Easter. The word Easter, he related, is derived from the word "Eostra," which means literally, "Goddess of Spring," a day of celebration and of ministering to humanity.

Warned in a Dream, She Wakes in Time To Baffle Burglar

Negro Was Just About to Grab Woman by Throat When Scream Frightens Him—Leaves Coats and Shoes Behind.

Warned in a dream that she was in danger, Mrs. Nell Sullivan, aged 23, of 60 East Ellis street, awoke at 2:30 o'clock Sunday morning to find a burly negro standing by the side of her bed, with hands outstretched as if to grab her by the throat.

Frightened by her scream, the black left the room, with a curse, leaping out of the window to the veranda and dashing down the street. The young lady lost no time in summoning to her aid Mrs. W. L. Scott, with whom she boards, and the two women called in the police.

On the front porch the police found the negro's hat, overcoat, coat and shoes, which he had taken off and laid in a porch swing.

Call Officers J. W. McWilliams, Jr., and G. H. Austin immediately telephoned Police Captain Mayo to ask him to put all patrolmen on the lookout for a negro without shoes, hat or coats.

"A negro answering this description has just come into police station," said Captain Mayo, to the call officers.

Patrolman Quattlebaum, whose beat is on Whitehall street, had arrested Milledge Head, age 30, of 467 Spring street, as a suspicious character. Head had on no shoes, hat or coat, and could give no good reason for being on the streets at that late hour of the night garbed as he was.

Head is now under arrest suspected of being the negro who entered Mrs. Sullivan's room.

The negro reported to Police Captain A. L. Pool Sunday that two patrolmen had mercilessly beaten him with their billies at the Union passenger station earlier Sunday morning. Captain Poole reported the matter to Police Chief J. L. Beavers.

DEATH RODE STORM AND TOOK HARVEST

coast storm claimed ten victims in the vicinity of the Delaware capes. They were the crews of the Consolidation Coal company's barges Nos. 6 and 5, from Baltimore for Boston, who were drowned when their crafts foundered near Cape Henlopen. The barges broke adrift from the tug Cumberland. Despite heroic efforts in the face of a howling nor'easter, with a six-mile gale, the Cumberland's crew was unable to get another line to the barges, which drifted helplessly for some time before going aground. For hours the tug stood by, but the fury of the sea made it impossible to render assistance. Finally the barges broke to pieces and sank with all hands aboard. The bodies of Captain Johnson, Baltimore, Karl Larsen, a Swedish subject, and Deorge Jarvis, also of Baltimore, washed ashore late in the day.

The wind yesterday blew seventy miles an hour at one time. Coast guards and life savers from the Lewes and Rehobeth stations made repeated efforts to launch a life boat when the plight of the barges was discovered, but could not get through the boiling surf.

A third barge which also was being towed by the Cumberland, was brought safely into the harbor at the Breakwater.

SEVEN MEN SAVED FROM THE OCEAN.

Charleston, S. C., April 4.—Captain Murphy and the six members of the crew of the American schooner Alice Murphy were landed here today by the Clyde Line steamer Lenape, by which they were rescued from their waterlogged vessel yesterday fifteen miles south of the Diamond shoal lightship, on the North Carolina coast. When the Lenape sighted the wreck, the men were lashed to the mizzen mast and had been without food for thirty-six hours.

The rescue was effected by Second Officer Wood and a boat crew, who volunteered to undertake the trip to the wreck in a raging storm. Oil was freely used by the rescue boat, and the men were taken from the mast without mishap.

The Murphy was lumber-laden from Savannah, Ga., for Providence, R. I. The battering of heavy seas opened her seams and she became waterlogged last Friday. The crew was unable to put off in the small boat on account of the storm, and lashed themselves in the mast.

The schooner was built in Thomaston, Me., in 1874, and her home port was Rockland, Me. She was of 425 gross tons, 148 feet long and 33 feet broad.

TAMPICO MISSING WITH 13 PERSONS.

Charleston, S. C., April 4.—The coal-laden barge San Antonio, which sprang a leak while being towed to Galveston by the steamer Texas, was beached in this harbor today. She was towed in by tugs which answered wireless calls from the Texas yesterday. The barge's crew is safe.

After towing the San Antonio in, the tug Waban put to sea in search of the barge Tampico, missing since Tuesday last, with thirteen persons aboard, but her quest had been without result early tonight. Fears for the safety of the Tampico are entertained here since yesterday's storm.

Wilmington, N. C., April 4.—The Morgan line steamer Comus, New Orleans for New York, sent a wireless message to the coast guard cutter Seminole here today that she had rescued the crew of the barge Northwestern, which broke away from the tug Wellington Friday night and foundered on the North Carolina coast, northeast of Cape Lookout. The Comus was en route from Jacksonville for New York.

The Seminole will put to sea tomorrow to destroy the wreck of the barge, as it is a menace to navigation, and to remove any derelicts found in the shipping lane off this coast.

SNOW VANISHES AT PHILADELPHIA.

Philadelphia, April 4.—Balmy spring weather today restored Philadelphia and vicinity to virtually normal conditions after one of the worst blizzards in the history of the local weather bureau. The nineteen inches of snow which fell in twelve hours, breaking all records, disappeared rapidly under the bright sunshine and warm westerly breeze. At nightfall there was none left in the center of the city, and even on the outskirts only patches.

Railroad service was resumed today to Atlantic City and other coast resorts. Traffic however is greatly curtailed, especially to Atlantic City, where the annual Easter parade usually attracts great throngs. Advices from that city said the crowd on the boardwalk did not approach those of former years.

Telegraph and telephone service to coast towns and points in southern Delaware, seriously interrupted by the sleet, had not been restored to many places late tonight.

Apprehension for the safety of the Argentine dreadnaught Moreno, which delivered a message to Philadelphia to be stored in the local navy yard, was dispelled by the arrival of the big warship tonight at the Philadelphia navy yard. Officers of the ship reported that while they were compelled to anchor outside the Delaware capes, the ship experienced no difficulty in weathering the storm and at no time was in danger.

With the exception of damage to the telegraph and telephone lines and losses to the railroads, through the falling off in traffic, the financial loss as a result of the storm was considered comparatively light.

WHITE EASTER FOR NEW YORK.

New York, April 4.—New Yorkers enjoyed a white Easter today for the first time in many years. Despite the snow, the annual Easter parade took place, bright weather assisting thousands of men in cleaning Fifth avenue for the display. Unusually large numbers of flowers were in evidence, and photographers were busy snapping society in its newest dress.

Hours before daylight today 30,000 men were lifting the blanket of the ten inches of snow that fell yesterday in one of the most furious April storms on record. Special attention was paid to Fifth avenue with the result that the earliest paraders found it clean and ready. Worshipers thronged the churches for the special Easter services. Special services took place in most edifices.

The weather bureau reported that the thaw was general over the storm-whipped Atlantic seaboard and steam railroads were running their trains according to schedule once more.

SNOW IS DEEP IN NEW ENGLAND.

Boston, April 4.—The blizzard which lashed New York yesterday worked to the eastward today over the Canadian maritime provinces, leaving lights wasp, prostrated wires and miles of snow blocked highways. So far as half been learned tonight no lives were lost, although fourteen men in three barges off Cape Cod and three in a barge in Massachusetts bay had narrow escapes from drowning. They were rescued by coast guard crews.

The storm was most destructive in southeastern Massachusetts, cutting off communication with points south of Middleborough.

Plymouth, Bristol and Barnstable counties were covered with more than a foot of snow. The wind reached a velocity of 80 miles an hour at Nantucket. In Boston the snowfall amounted to only a few inches.

The coast guard cutter Acushnet rendered assistance to the crew of the schooner George Churchman in Provincetown harbor. The coast guard cutter Androscoggin rode out the gale east of Cape Cod without damage.

For the first time in more than twenty years sleighing was enjoyed in southern New England on Easter day.

FIGHT COMING TODAY OVER "JITNEY BUSES"

Daily Receipts of the Operators Exaggerated, According to J. T. Hazelton.

"Jitney bus" owners are preparing to storm the general council this afternoon and make a final effort to defeat the ordinance now pending and which provides for the regulation of the buses in Atlanta. They have engaged Attorney Thomas B. Felder to represent them.

Members of the Atlanta "Jitney Bus" club, composed of practically every owner in the city, will be present with scores of friends who have agreed to assist in their fight. The amended ordinance is to be submitted to council and while it greatly modifies certain features the ordinance is not satisfactory to the club and they will contend for still further modifications.

"The people have been misinformed about the income of a 'jitney bus,' said J. T. Hazelton, the 'original operator.' "The report was that our daily receipts were about $15. This is far wrong, as I can speak from experience. I took in $13 on one day, but it was hard work and was a record day."

"If the pending ordinance is adopted it will put the 'jitney buses' out of business and rob the public of special conveniences they deserve and which we plan to give them if permitted to live, said J. Coy Pearce, secretary of the Jitney Bus club.

Council today will consider the Pryor street paving improvement and a delegation from the Atlanta school improvement association will be present to discuss the condition of public school buildings.

DR. PROCTOR PREACHES ON "THE RESURRECTION"

"The Resurrection Before Death" was the subject of the Easter sermon at the First Congregational church, colored, yesterday morning by Dr. H. H. Proctor, the pastor.

At night there was a concert by the school in charge of E. W. Martin, Jr., superintendent, which was attended by a very large audience, after which the annual Easter offering by the circles of the church was presented.

WOMEN VOTE TUESDAY FOR MAYOR IN CHICAGO

Chicago, April 4.—Sunday was observed strictly today by candidates for mayor of Chicago, who closed an active campaign yesterday with parades and red fire. On Tuesday women will vote for mayor in Chicago for the first time, and special efforts to win the female vote have been made by William Hale Thompson, republican; Robert Sweitzer, democrat; Simon Needman, socialist, and John H. Hill, prohibitionist.

The scenes in the business center last night rivaled those of New Year's eve. Street car traffic was halted by paraders. There were many women among the shouters, but no organized body of females participated in the marching.

Nearly 300,000 women are registered along with nearly 500,000 men.

President Wilson's Easter.

Washington, April 4.—President Wilson observed Easter Sunday today by going to church in the morning and spending the rest of the day quietly at the white house. In accordance with an old custom, the white house grounds will be thrown open tomorrow to the children of the capital for Easter egg rolling.

WOMAN WANTS TO HELP OTHERS

Glasses Made at Hawkes

It means that you take advantage of our long optical experience dating back to 1879.

Experience is the best teacher. It has taught us year after year the best methods of fitting glasses; it has taught us all the little refinements that go to make a comfortable and perfect pair of glasses, the writing of the proper lens formulae, the proper shape and size of lenses, the style of the mountings, fit of the frames, etc.

This experience has produced for us one of the most modern lens grinding plants in the country, where your lenses are ground, proved, checked and rechecked by expert workmen until they are perfect.

GLASSES MADE AT HAWKES simply guarantees to you "the best glasses that can be produced."

We want to prove all the above to you.

The reasons for Certain-teed Roofing

Every buyer needs the proper assurance, when he pays for the best quality, that a second or third quality will not be delivered. The market is flooded with too many brands. Some manufacturers with poor facilities too often meet competition by cutting quality. Some wholesalers buy any old quality, put their labels on it, and say it is the best. Our Certain-teed label is backed by the written guarantee of the world's largest manufacturer of asphalt roofings. It gives each buyer the assurance wanted, and our unequalled facilities for manufacturing enable us to sell it at a very reasonable price.

These are the reasons for

Certain-teed Roofing

Come to our mills and see how we make the goods. We know that our Certain-teed Roofing is the best quality that we can make. It's the best quality that can be made to last and remain waterproof on the roof. It is made with that one purpose in view. We also make cheap grade, poor quality roofings to meet the demand for very temporary roofs, but the Certain-teed label goes only on our best quality, longest life product. It is the grade which carries our Company name and endorsement and guarantee—1-ply 5 years, 2-ply 10 years, 3-ply 15 years.

If you want the right quality and want to be sure you are getting what you pay for, insist on the Certain-teed label. The price is reasonable. No one can tell the quality of a piece of roofing by looking at it. The man is not living who can take three kinds of roofing of different qualities and tell with any degree of accuracy the length of time each one will last on the roof. He cannot tell their relative values by looking at them. Why take the chance of guessing, when you can get the safest guarantee on the best quality goods at a reasonable price.

If for any reason you do not care for the highest quality—if you want a temporary roof, we also make goods sold at the lowest price on the market, because we have unequalled facilities, and are making approximately a third of the entire asphalt roofing and building papers of the whole world's supply. Our facilities enable us to beat all competition on price goods as well as on Certain-teed quality.

The difference between the total cost of the goods, the freight, the laying, etc., between quality goods and price goods is insignificant. It is a much better policy to cut out the guessing and let the manufacturer of real responsibility insure you on all the vital points. He knows what he puts into the goods and what they will do—you can then insist upon getting everything as represented.

LET'S BOOST BUSINESS

Less Politics—More Prosperity

We have had enough starvation business—enough of political "cure-alls" of every party, with their smashing and busting—enough of politicians who promise economy and honesty in order to get into office and then practice unheard of extravagances and then play for votes or party rather than for principle and right, etc. The cost of living is not going down. Let's go after good times and make enough money to pay for the cost of living, whatever it may be. We don't want cheap living—we want good business and good times for everybody and if we all pull together we will get them.

The game of the politician is to promise everything. Many of them ought to be prosecuted for fraud on account of the difference between what they promise and what they deliver. They're worse than the business man who over-advertises the quality of his goods. Let the business interests, from the laborer to the superintendent, from the office boy to the president, from the hired man on the farm to the owner of the farm, remember that they have a common interest in good business and a square deal in business. Stop listening to the fakers and let's boost ourselves back into good times. It can be done. No more knockers and false prophets are wanted. We are going to be too busy to listen to any except those who promise "good business" legislation.

PIRATES TO PLAY CRACKERS TODAY

Hans Wagner and Other Stars at Ponce de Leon. Last Week of Exhibition Games.

The Pittsburg Pirates will be the attraction at Ponce de Leon park this afternoon and again on Tuesday afternoon, starting the last week of the exhibition season, which will end Saturday.

This is the first time in several seasons that the Pirates have come here for a series of games with the Crackers, and with the big list of stars that they have on their roster, there ought to be big crowds out to the games.

Principal interest will, of course, center in Hans Wagner, the veteran shortstop of the Pirates, whom nine-tenths of the Atlanta fans will see in action for the first time. A character of national reputation, local fans are certain to seize this opportunity to see him perform. He has been moved over to guard the keystone this spring, Jimmy Viox going to third.

Sid Smith and Joe Conzelman, members of Cracker pennant winners in the past, will be with the Pirates, and will probably be the battery in one of the games against their old teammates.

Another familiar face will be that of Doc Johnston, the former Chattanooga and New Orleans first-sacker, who was sold to the Pirates by the Cleveland club the past winter, and who will take a fling at the first base hoodoo at Forbes field, Pittsburg, this season.

Then there is Babe Adams, George Gibson, Jim Viox, Dr. Carey, George McQuillan, Bob Harmon and a bunch of other well-known stars, with several youngsters of merit, some of whom may be left with the Crackers for further seasoning.

Manager Smith received a wire from the Pittsburg management last night announcing the batting order of the players who would appear against the Crackers today, and announcing his own. The teams will line-up at 3:15 o'clock today, as follows:

PITTSBURG.	ATLANTA.

Havana, April 4.—With their training finished for the world's championship heavyweight battle Monday, Jack Johnson and Jess Willard spent today idling and resting, both took a stiff walk early in the morning.

Neither man is down to normal fighting weight, and as a consequence, both will forego liquids until after noon Monday. As a matter of fact, according to their statements, they have taken no liquids in the past two days.

Johnson spent part of his leisure hours packing up his belongings, preliminary to leaving Havana after the fight. He plans to sail for Martinique Wednesday, and will go from there direct to France or South America, depending on the outcome of tomorrow's contest. His last word today was to the "fans" that he was in perfect condition, and was sure of winning. He seemed more concerned over the loss of a pair of new shoes than over his meeting with Willard in the ring.

Fight Starts at Noon.

Johnson says he will enter the ring at 225 pounds, but he looks about ten pounds heavier than that. The gong will sound for the fight at 12:30 o'clock (12 o'clock Atlanta time), and Johnson expects to leave his quarters for the arena at noon.

Willard intends to take a brisk walk early tomorrow, and will leave for the ringside at 11 o'clock. He shows no signs of worry. He said he expected to beat Johnson any way the negro fights. The length of the battle, he declared, depends on the champion's tactics. Willard's camp partners say their man will be a sure winner if he can break even with Johnson for the first ten rounds.

Sunday would have been a great day for the fight as originally planned. It was cool, with a good breeze, and all indications point to similar conditions tomorrow.

Sale Reaches $80,000.

There was a heavy sale of tickets throughout the day, and the fight promoters estimated the total sale so far at $80,000. They expect to dispose of tickets to the value of $50,000 more tomorrow.

The betting is light, there being only a few hundreds of dollars actually in the stakeholders' hands, despite much talk of wagering. The best offer of Johnson's backers is 6 to 5, the Willard men are trying to get 9 to 5. The real fact is that everybody is afraid to bet big money, as it seems impossible to figure the result.

There is little or no talk of a fake, but nobody seems sure of having a true line on Johnson's condition or Willard's fighting ability and power to stand punishment.

The fight promoters announce that they will pay Johnson $30,000, according to agreement, at 11 o'clock Monday morning at his quarters. They also hope to take Willard, if he wins, to Key West and northward Tuesday.

Bat Nelson Will Describe Big Fight for Local Fans

Battling Nelson, the greatest lightweight the boxing game ha sever seen, will describe the progress of the Johnson-Willard fight today to Atlanta fight fans from his seat at the ringside in Havana, via direct leased cable to Atlanta.

Battling Nelson's account of the work of Johnson and Willard, their every movement in the ring, will be called to Atlanta fight fans by Dick Jemison, at his baseball matinee parlors in the Steiner-Emery building on Viaduct place.

A special wire has been run right into the hall, and instantaneous service from the ringside will be in vogue.

An admission fee of 50 cents will be charged. This detail will be for white people only, the colored fans of the city having a detail of their own in the Auditorium theater on Auburn avenue.

The fight starts at 12 o'clock, Atlanta time.

ADMISSION, 50 CENTS

PERFECT SCORES BY 22 MACHINES

Daring Motorcyclists Reach Atlanta Sunday Afternoon and Will Return to Birmingham This Morning.

Twenty-two of the twenty-four entries in the 422-mile road race between Atlanta and Birmingham, arrived Sunday afternoon ahead of schedule and with perfect scores. John Akin, on a Harley-Davidson, reached the Grady monument, the last control, at 3:50 o'clock, nearly two hours before his machine was due. All of the twenty-four motors had checked in by 5:30 o'clock.

The riders reported the roads in good condition all along the route. No serious accidents occurred. The contestants will leave Atlanta this morning at 6 o'clock for the return trip to Birmingham and upon reaching that city will be checked up by the referee.

Atlanta Men Do Well.

Many of the riders are Atlanta men, several of whom competed in the entrance run last year and made good records. They are Harry Glenn, Ed Wilcox, W. Z. Barnes, Quinney, Jas. Parmelee and Berry Cohen, all riding Indians; John Akin, Tex Richards, Burk Butterick and R. B. Parrish, riding Harley-Davidson machines; J. Bryant, on a Henderson.

From Birmingham were the following: William F. Specht, William Degroat, Eddie French, Harley-Davidson, machines; Fred Prator, on a Merkle; W. H. Ninekirt, on a Reading-Standard; Bob Stubbs, George Berry, John McHale, Ollie Roberts, Henry Carlisle and John Wharden, riding Indians; W. Austin, on a Henderson, Louis Lawler, on Reading-Standard, and Ed Cawthorn, on a Henderson.

The run was held under the rules of the Federation of American Motorcyclists and the final checking of the machines will take place when they reach Birmingham this afternoon.

Leaving Birmingham Sunday morning at 6 o'clock the machines stopped at two controls—Gadsden and Rome. In leaving Atlanta this morning the machines will leave one minute apart and will be required to make an approximate speed of 20 miles an hour.

Will Get Loving Cup.

Each contestant is credited with 1,000 points at the start of the run and is penalized for arriving late; the loss of a bolt, nut, pedal or damage to any part of the machine. The individual driver reaching Birmingham with the highest score will receive a silver loving cup and the team of three making the highest score will receive a silver loving cup.

All of the machines were checked in Sunday night by W. V. Miller and they will be turned over to their respective owners this morning. None of the drivers were allowed to make repairs last night.

Specht, riding a Harley-Davidson, brought in a pint of nails and screws he said he picked from his tires, which were punctured five times during the 211-mile run to Atlanta. In spite of this fact he arrived on time.

Degroat, one of the Birmingham riders, sustained a lacerated face and bruised nose when he was spilled from his machine near Rome.

Ninekirt, on a Reading-Standard, ran off the river bridge and slightly damaged his machine. His injuries were painful, but not serious.

COLORED FIGHT FANS WILL HEAR DETAILS

The colored fight fans of Atlanta will hear the details of the Johnson-Willard fight at Havana today at the Auditorium theater, Auburn avenue and Butler street.

Skelton v. Prater.

Brady Skelton and Ed Prater will meet in the second block of 100 points in the pocket billiard match of 200 points at the Montgomery billiard parlors tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

Big Spot on Sun.

Washington, April 4.—A large sun spot has been discovered by the naval observatory. The disturbance showed on a photograph taken at noon, March 29, and probably will be visible until about April 10. It may be observed by using one side of an ordinary opera glass with a piece of smoked glass.

LOCALS LOOKING MORE FORMIDABLE

The Present Personnel May Prove Sufficient Strength if the Weather Will Only Warm Up.

By Dick Jemison.

Last Monday we gave the Crackers the "O-O" in this column, but begged to be excused for another week before venturing any definite opinion as to what we thought of the team as a whole and its chances.

Now we can truthfully say that the prospects are considerably more promising than they looked a week ago, with every indication of real strength, even in the present personnel, without any acquisitions that may be made at any time.

But with a few days of weather like Sunday, a better line on every player can be obtained, for then the players can let themselves out to their fullest extent and we can get a real line on them.

How They Look Now.

Sizing up the Crackers at the present writing, we find that the outfield will do; behind the bat and on the mound the team is strong—stronger than it has been in several seasons—while even the infield, with its present personnel, gives indications of rounding into a representative quartet.

The Crackers will not have the hitting strength that the 1913 Cracker champions possessed, but they will be faster in the field and on the bases, a better defensive club, with better pitching and catching.

Most baseball men will tell you that they'd rather have a fast fielding club—one that was fast on the bases and supported by good pitching and catching and with but average hitting—than the best hitting aggregation in the business. And the Crackers give every indication of being that kind of a club.

Hitting Stronger.

Timon Bowden, Hack Eibel and Claude Potts found their batting eyes the past week, and with these fellows hitting anywhere near their normal stride, the hitting of the Crackers as a whole is not going to be weak. It may not be as strong as the Welchonce, Long, Smith, Alperman, Chapman, Bisland combination, but it will hit enough to support better pitching and defense it will have.

The present personnel shows an ability to score runs on a few hits, their speed being a big asset, and with the pitchers holding the opposition in check, not many runs are needed. We point you to the 1907 and 1909 Cracker pennant winners for proof of this.

Potts is much improved in every department, and since he has become more familiar with the strange position at second base, being a shortstop and third baseman naturally, he is showing flashes of brilliancy and an ability to go to his right better, which he could not do before.

The third base fight is still waging, and it depends on what Stutz, Waldron and Tullos show during the coming week, as to whether any of them will be kept. Bill has two deals with big league clubs awaiting his final word to close for good infielders in the event the present crop fails.

Fine Pitching Staff.

Williams, Hiett, Allen and Pearson, the four new twirlers, have shown that they are grand twirlers by their work to date, and from these four and the three veterans, Dent, Thompson and Browning, Bill ought to be able to select a staff that will be the best the Crackers have had in several years.

Then there is Robertson, the Norcross boy, who is the most promising youngster that has tried out in these parts in many a day. Even if he does not make the team, and the only thing that will keep him from doing so will be lack of experience, wherever Manager Smith sends him, there'll be a long string attached, which will be yanked.

It has always been stated that good catchers make a good pitching staff. If this is the case, then the Crackers' chances of having a good hurling crew are even more enhanced, for the team is blessed with the three best catchers any team in the Southern league has ever had at any one time in any spring.

There is no reason to worry over the Crackers not winning exhibition games. They count for naught. They were not in any condition to play until recently, and when they were able to cut loose a little and the pitchers able to "put something" on the ball, the difference in the club was apparent.

Candidly, we believe that with the acquisition of a good third-sacker, the club, as it stands, will require a lot of beating to keep it from finishing 1-2-3 in the Southern league pennant race this season. Mark that prediction!

HOUCK AND BROWN ARE DUE HERE TODAY

Mike Saul Has Also Arranged Classy Preliminaries for Thursday's Boxing.

Leo Houck, of Philadelphia, and George ("Knock 'Em Dead") Brown, the Greek middleweight, from Chicago, are due here today from other parts to finish training for their ten-round bout at the Bijou theater Thursday night.

Kid Young, the crack newsboy champion, who returned from Cincinnati the other day after a successful trip throughout the middle west, has been signed to meet Battling Budd in the eight-round semi-windup. This bout should attract nearly as much interest as the wind-up.

The third scrap of the evening will be a six-round set-to between Kid Underwood, of Nashville, and Harry Diamond, the Memphis featherweight.

It looks very much as if Atlanta fans are to see the very best bout of the season Thursday night.

Promoter Mike Saul went to a big expense to land this mill.

Tickets for the bout are going rapidly. The popular price Mike is charging has made a big hit with local fans. The pasteboards can be purchased at the Rex, Elkin cigar store at Five Points, and Chess' place. Tickets sell for 50 cents to $1.50. Ringside seats will sell for $2. All the ringside seats have been elevated.

The Bijou box office will also be opened earlier than usual. Tickets will be ready to be purchased there tomorrow.

PREP LEAGUE TO OPEN 1915 SEASON ON NEXT FRIDAY

The prep baseball league will open the season Friday afternoon, three games being scheduled to be played. Six teams, the ones that went in the prep basketball league, will compose the baseball circuit.

The schedule will run from Friday until May 11, two rounds of play being provided for. Each club will play ten games. The games will be played on Tuesday and Friday of each week.

The opening games are as follows:

Boys' High at G. M. A.
Peacock at Tech High.
Marist at Donald Fraser.

The newest Alpine sport is coasting down mountain railways on specially designed cars which sometimes exceed a speed of 80 miles an hour.

ROUTE OF HIGHWAY WILL BE DECIDED

and the completion of various sections of roads necessary to the entity of the highway.

Congress also will be memorialized to lend this project federal aid.

The federal bureau of good roads will be asked to supply three expert road engineers to assist the commission in mapping out the route of the highway.

The governors at the conference declared that the Dixie highway will do more for the uniting and developing of the sections through which it will pass than any other means that could have been devised. The pleasure feature of the highway, while it will bring many tourists south and take many tourists north, will be one of the smallest benefits to be derived from the highway.

This good roads movement, apparently, will not stop with the mere development of the one central highway.

The willingness with which the delegates representing various competing sections for the highway route have acceded their claims to the success of the entire route, indicates that the losers—for there must be losers—will build connecting links to the highway, affording side trips, and often the choice of several routes to the tourist, and giving the citizens of the losing sections the benefit of access to the main highway.

Will Construct Roads.

The boosters of all these proposed local routes indicated before the convention that ample provision has been made for the construction of the roads over these respective routes. Many counties have already authorized bond issues and other means of providing money for road construction. In losing contests it is hardly probable that, with the citizens already realizing the tremendous benefits of good roads, they will pour this money back into the county coffers and leave their roads unimproved.

Representatives of the state of Alabama, who lost in their fight to be represented on the commission of governors' appointees, have indicated that, regardless of the fact that the highway will not pass through Alabama, the people of that state will build a highway connecting with the Dixie highway.

A good example of the advantage of building a road through a section which has not been named as a part of the Dixie highway is found in the case of Rome and Dalton. Both these sections had strong delegations at the conference boosting their respective claims. It may be regarded as probable that whichever of these wins out before the commission, the other will not rest satisfied without building a highway anyway.

The same holds true of the several proposed routes through south Georgia, through Tennessee and Kentucky and through Ohio.

Representing the various sections of the highway there were more than 4,000 delegates in Chattanooga on Saturday. The enthusiastic competition between these delegations surpassed anything that has ever been seen at a roads meeting. Men who have attended every meeting that the American Roads congress has ever held, declared that at no meeting have they ever seen such tremendous interest. The competition was not less keen than has often been witnessed at political conventions in Georgia.

Delegation Headquarters.

Every delegation had its headquarters, its flaming banners, its noise-making apparatus and its boosters. Robertson county, Tennessee, which is one of the strongest boosters for a route by Nashville, brought a brass band, as did also delegations from one or two other sections.

Atlanta was there with 200 or more delegates, and was one of the big features of the day. In the big morning parade, Atlanta's section formed the biggest and brightest spot in the line, which was practically one mile long.

The brilliant uniforms and the continuous blare and rumble of the bugles and drums of the Eagles' drum corps held the attention of the thousands who lined the sidewalks.

In the parade the drum corps—and there were forty-one of them—led the Atlanta section. Ivan Allen and Wylie West led the delegation on foot.

Fred Houser, as usual, was the life of the crowd. With a white umbrella labeled "Atlanta" in big red letters, he tangoed up and down the line to the tunes of the brass bands and the drum corps.

There were a number of "movie" men there with the cameras, and they always got busy when Freddie came by.

After the parade the drum corps marched through the streets and later accompanied the Atlanta delegation to the conference hall. There they rendered another serenade while the crowd waited upon the call for order. Fred Houser and Wylie West led the well-known Atlanta singing at the conference and at the big banquet which closed the conference Saturday night.

Atlanta Conspicuous.

Conspicuous in the Atlanta delegation were members of the Rotary club, the Ad Men's club and the Atlanta Automobile and Accessories association. These men did such boosting as Atlanta has not had in a long while.

To Fred Houser, secretary of the Atlanta Convention bureau, and R. N. Reed, chairman of the committee from the automobile men's association, must go credit largely for securing the drum corps and getting up the splendid delegation which represented Atlanta.

Instead of going in special Pullmans, as was at first the plan, it was found at the last moment that the delegation was so big a special train was necessary. So the Atlanta delegation went in a special train of five coaches over the Western and Atlantic railroad, which was splendidly managed by Major W. H. Leahy.

The part of the delegation headed by W. Tom Wing, of Fulton county commissioners, had a fine trip through the country by automobile, and found the roads in good condition and interest in the highway movement keen. They left Chattanooga Sunday morning about 10 o'clock and arrived in Atlanta Sunday night.

Chattanooga played host to the visiting thousands in fine style. Nothing was left to be done for the visitors that they could have desired.

It was a great conference, splendidly handled and accomplishing great results.

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES

ATLANTA ALWAYS FIRST, together with Safety First, requires that immediate ordinance be passed, calling for Atlanta's purchase of at least 2,000 first-class jitney buses of suitable capacities, the same to be at once placed into Atlanta's municipally-owned transportation system, which cannot at present be bounded. See to it that the Georgia Railway and Power Company, Atlanta Baggage and Cab Company, Southern Railway Company, Atlanta and West Point Railroad Company, Central of Georgia Railway Company, Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic Railroad Company, Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company, Seaboard Air Line Railway Company, the Georgia Railroad Commission, the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Supreme Court of the United States all combined, do not delay the passage of such ordinance! Let Chattanooga, Tenn.; Rome, Ga.; Richmond, Va.; Montgomery, Ala., and Washington, D. C., do likewise. Then just watch Atlanta and other cities grow. Also watch the present suicidal cost of living decline. Also watch the rural farms multiply in numbers and increase in yields and profits. See how quickly everybody gets busy. Please fail not to do this! Why? Marketman.

WANT LOCKER CLUBS AND SALOONS CLOSED

Central Baptist Church Makes Appeal to the General Assembly of Georgia.

When William D. Upshaw put the question at the Central Baptist church last night several hundred people held up their hands and voted unanimously a resolution to ask all the newspapers in Georgia to discontinue the publication of whisky advertisements and to ask the next session of the Georgia general assembly to close every saloon and locker club in the state.

Such was the climactic close of a rousing prohibition meeting, where Mr. Upshaw, Robert A. Broyles and W. S. Witham delivered scathing attacks upon the newspapers and church members for countenancing the sale of liquor in Atlanta.

Defends the Police.

Mr. Broyles criticised citizens who criticise the police department as being inefficient and declared that the newspapers in printing stories tending to criticise the police department are not attempting to produce the real news of the situation, but are blinding the issue, which, he declared, is the policy of the police in compelling locker clubs to obey the law.

Mr. Witham, who presided over the meeting, opened the meeting by brandishing a bundle of whisky advertisements.

"These," he said, "I clipped from the Atlanta newspapers this morning."

During Mr. Witham's remarks, which left neither hide nor hair on anybody favoring whisky, were interspersed with characteristic phrases and anecdotes which kept his hearers in a gale of laughter.

Mr. Witham declared that he had just returned from Miami, Fla., where prohibition is enforced with the result that everybody is prosperous and happy.

"Even the Elks' club in Miami," he said, "has declared that its conscience has hurt it until it will not allow liquor to be sold or given away within the doors of its home again."

Robert Broyles Speaks.

Mr. Witham introduced Mr. Broyles.

"You are not properly informed by the newspapers," said Mr. Broyles. "The press can be a great power for good and a great power for evil. Just now they seem to be giving you a mixture.

"I picked up a daily newspaper day before yesterday, and on the front page I saw a big picture of a convict who had been released from the Atlanta federal prison and who had spent enough to keep 'from going there. The story about this convict was headed in big black headlines. Inside in print so small you'd almost had to get a microscope to read it and in a position where your chances of finding it were slim, was a story about a great minister who is coming here to preach.

In touching upon the recent criticisms of the police by leading citizens, Mr. Broyles upheld the police department. He pointed out that one of the alleged criminals in the three cases mentioned had been captured by the police. He also pointed out that within the last year the police have made more than 4,700 arrests.

Chief of Police James L. Beavers sat in the audience.

Mr. Broyles pointed out that 72 per cent of the area of the United States is without saloons. He outlined the status of and history of the proposed federal prohibition act and predicted ultimate success for it. He explained that Congressman Adamson, of Georgia, spoke against the measure on the ground of interference with states' rights, but when he found himself being congratulated only by liquor dealers, experienced a change of mind and voted for the measure.

He presented statistics of Kansas showing the great decrease in illiteracy and increase in wealth, health and happiness resultant from prohibition, and many other statistics showing the ill effects of liquor and the benefits of prohibition.

Scores the Churches.

Mr. Witham, introducing Mr. Upshaw, declared that the churches of Atlanta are doing more to keep liquor here than any other institution.

"Get your Baptist deacons, your Presbyterian elders, your Methodist stewards and all the rest of the church officials either out of the church or out of the locker clubs, and you will see the clubs closing," he said.

Illustrative of his argument, he sang a little song about the two ballots that lay in the ballot box and looked so much alike that you couldn't tell them apart, but

"One was cast by a jolly old brewer
"And one by a Sunday school man."

Mr. Upshaw, in a brief talk, declared that he and Mr. Broyles and Mr. Witham were "married together and would never get a divorce from each other until Georgia is in reality a prohibition state from the mountains to the sea."

He declared that there are three reasons why people support liquor—money, politics and liquor.

SALE OF SINGLE SEATS BEGINS THIS MORNING

Big Rush of Opera Patrons Expected by Grand Opera Management.

The sale of single seats for this year's grand opera week will begin this morning.

Tickets are on sale at the store of the Cable company, on Broad street, and Phillips & Crew, on Pryor street.

The term, "sale of single seats," which has been applied annually to this sale, by the way, is a misnomer. It does not mean the sale of a ticket for one seat. It means the sale of any number of seats for one performance. The term is merely used to distinguish this sale from the sale of season tickets, which includes all performances.

Boxes, $50 and $45.
Arena, $4 and $3.
Dress circle, $2.50, $3 and $5.
Balcony, $1, $2 and $3.

It is expected that the demand for seats for single performances this year will be very great.

This year's list of operas includes probably the most attractive operas ever offered to Atlanta in any one season.

The season opens with Meyerbeer's wonderful opera, "The Huguenots," introducing for the first time Rosina Galli, the Metropolitan's premiere danseuse, and her magnificent supporting ballet.

Tuesday matinee will consist of one of Atlanta's greatest favorites, "Tales of Hoffman," introducing the Barcarolle air, which is hummed by every music-lover.

Wednesday night's performance will be the magnificent presentation of "Carmen," with Geraldine Farrar in the title role, a treat for which Atlanta has patiently waited for two years.

Thursday matinee will be "Rigoletto," the fine airs of which have also made it a great favorite. In Atlanta "Woman Is Fickle" and the great quartet from this opera are as well known as "Dixie."

Friday night's performance will be "The Love of the Three Kings," which has so taken the fancy of New York.

Mozart's magnificent "Magic Flute" at the Saturday matinee will present a scene of lavish oriental splendor such as has never been produced upon the opera stage of the world save in the performance of this same opera in New York.

The opera season will close Saturday night with "Madame Sans Gene," Giordano's remarkable opera which depicts the fortunes of an humble laundress, who rose to the eminence of a duchess under the regime of Napoleon.

TRADE IN STOCKS IS AGAIN NORMAL

New York, April 4.—Growing recognition of the safeguards enjoyed by this country against the financial effects of the war was registered in the week's stock market. Abolition of minimum prices marked the re-establishment of a wholly free and open market. Expanded volume of dealings further reflected the return of normal conditions. Both in stocks and bonds, March business rose well above the corresponding month last year, the final day of the month rising to the maximum and the highest prices since the outbreak of the war. Speculative caution and manipulative excesses prompted the realizing which resulted in the irregularity at the week-end.

The advantage to our foreign trade of the necessities of belligerents continues the dominant factor. War orders for steel in the last two weeks were the largest since the foreign clouds gathered. The $50,000,000 one year French government bonds taken by New York bankers, an equal amount for Russia and twice as much for England under negotiation, are all for purchases of materials here.

Renewed weakness of foreign exchange in the face of these operations indicated the further pressure of the sixth coupon. Subsequent discussion of early peace was a natural consequence. A sharp expansion in merchandise imports was another effect of the pressure on foreign exchange. Rise in prices of stocks also brought some added foreign selling.

As a contrast to foreign loans, new financing of home corporations in March fell to $58,000,000, compared with $241,000,000 in the preceding month. Home trade still hesitates. Better net returns for railroads are from economies near-starvation for upkeep. March gross returns are unsatisfactory. Record acreage for wheat is estimated, with drastic reduction of cotton.

Diplomatic exchanges over neutral rights and Japan's steps in China are watched for possibilities of anxiety. The American situation also came in for consideration.

NORTHER AT COLON DOES MUCH DAMAGE

Panama, April 4.—A severe norther visited Colon last night, doing much damage to the west breakwater, which was completed last year at a cost of $4,000,000. Hundred of feet of the east breakwater, which had suffered to the extent of nearly $500,000 damage in a recent storm, were blown out.

The wind blew sixty miles an hour and for a time it was feared the non-magnetic survey yacht Carnegie, owned by the Carnegie institute at Washington, would blow ashore. Other vessels, however, assisted the Carnegie and she was able to ride out the gale safely.

POLICE CHIEF KILLED BY WHISKY PEDDLER

Lewisburg, W. Va., April 4.—Intense excitement prevails at Ronceverte, near here, following the killing late yesterday of George J. Shires, chief of police of Ronceverte, by John Stuart, a negro. Authorities express fear of a lynching should Stuart be captured in West Virginia and an outbreak between the whites and negroes is possible, according to reports received here. Stuart was arrested on a charge of peddling whisky. He shot Shires while being taken to jail. A report from Ronceverte says the negro has been surrounded in a wood near there.

According to Andrew Furuseth, president of the International Seamen's union, the average wages of seamen the world over have been stationary the last seventy years.

Trade Features of Week Are Generally Optimistic

Big Advance in Cotton Has Been a Great Help to the South, Declares Dun's Report.

Dun's report says:

Domestic trade gains slowly, but war orders and food exports continue very heavy, and in all branches of business, and in all sections, there is a distinct growth of confidence. The big advance in cotton is a great relief to the depression in the south, while in the west high prices for farm products make for continued activity, and in spite of low temperature in the winter wheat section, crop prospects are regarded as favorable. A notable expansion of stock exchange activity is a speculative expression, both of the improving business conditions and of the increasing hopes of peace. The action in removing all restrictions upon stock trading means a complete return to normal market conditions, and is another notable proof of expanding financial power. Bank clearings, commercial failures and other statistics of business, however, still reveal the wide extent and effect of the depression that was produced by the war, but it is significant that these indices of trade activity are growing better month by month, so that they are in sent past conditions rather than tendencies for the future.

Money Very Easy.

Money is very easy, but this is due in large part to the absence of new and great corporate undertakings; it makes, however, for enormous power for uplift, when the turn in trade fully sets in. It is noteworthy that American bankers are arranging large credits for European buyers of American commodities, and preparations must eventually be made for financing the governmental war loans, which cannot be taken by the people of the several belligerent nations. The wastes of the European conflict will be a world burden. On the other hand, the war reveals unexpected resources of hidden wealth, and it is possible that the recovery from the disaster, particularly in the neutral countries, may be more rapid than was at first feared. Exports amount in the latest week to $29,142,020 from New York, as compared with $19,689,614 of imports, leaving a trade balance of over $9,000,000 a single week at one port alone, in iron and steel, the European demands are increasing so largely that they are responsible for further expansion in the output of the plants, and domestic business, while not so active, is nevertheless improving. Reports from the textile markets are encouraging, and in most lines there is a broader demand and added firmness. Retail distribution appears to be more active, though Easter buying has not been lavish. The outlook for improvement in footwear is brightening. Favorable spring weather is beneficial for the lumber and other building supply trades, although building operations are much below those of last year. In all lines stocks are low.

BANK CLEARINGS IN UNITED STATES FOR THE PAST WEEK

Bank clearings in the United States for the past week ending April 1, as reported to Bradstreet's Journal, New York, aggregate $3,004,257,000, against $2,582,642,000 last year. Canadian clearings aggregate $118,347,000, as against $152,269,000 week before last and $142,792,000 in this week year. Condition of Treasury.

Washington, April 4.—The condition of the United States treasury at the close of business yesterday was:

Net balance in general fund, $50,477,-940.

Total receipts, $1,765,865.

Total payments, $2,261,253.

The deficit this fiscal year is $93,168,-367, against a deficit of $28,421,989 last year, exclusive of Panama canal and public debt transactions.

VOTE ON THE SALOONS BY MICHIGAN COUNTIES

Detroit, Mich., April 4.—A light state election vote tomorrow, except in sixteen counties where the local option issue is at stake, was predicted tonight. The ticket includes two supreme court justices, two university regents, one member of the state board of agriculture, a superintendent of public instruction and one member of the state board of education.

Of the sixteen counties voting on the saloon question, four are now "dry."

Make State and County Tax Returns now. Books close April 30.

267,000 TONS OF RAILS WERE BOOKED IN MARCH

New York, April 4—The Erie Railroad company has ordered 35,000 tons of rails, of which 21,000 tons will be rolled by the Steel Corporation company in April, May and June, 9,000 tons by the Buffalo mill and 5,000 tons by the Bethlehem Steel company in April, May, June and July. The Oklahoma and Gulf ordered 2,000 tons from the Tennessee company, and miscellaneous orders, with slight sections, amounted to 3,000 tons, making the total rail orders booked in March 267,000 tons.

The car shops and locomotive works experienced another lean week, but the locomotive builders, as well as the car manufacturers, have turned with alacrity to shrapnel orders for export, and, in turn, need about 50,000 tons of steel bars. In consequence there are likely to be fewer cancellations of previous orders placed by railroad equipment manufacturers.

French interests have bought 100,000 tons more round bars in this country and supplementary orders for plates, shapes and sheets amounted to 20,000 tons. Domestic merchant interests also placed additional substantial miscellaneous orders for export. March export sales aggregated 600,000 tons, including bars to cover shrapnel forged in this country. Great Britain, France and Russia are still negotiating for rails.

Steel building orders during the week were small, but the March structural bookings reached 100,000 tons. The United States Steel corporation is now operating over 72 per cent total capacity. Shipments in March gained nearly 10 per cent, while new orders decreased about 7 per cent, indicating a small change in mailing orders. Southern blast furnaces sold 100,000 tons of foundry iron at $9.25 Birmingham for No. 2. Buffalo furnaces sold 75,000 tons additional. The total merchant sales in March were nearly 600,000 tons.

Marble Mill Burned.

Knoxville, Tenn., April 4.—The Tennessee Producers' Marble company's mill was damaged to the extent of $100,000 by fire today. Insurance estimated at $75,000. The blaze started in the engine room and spread rapidly.

Preference

"Every well-dressed man has decided opinions as to color, fabric and pattern. Most men we make $35 business suits for have well defined ideas of what they want when they open our front door. It's a rare case when we have not the very thing—then we manage to get it."

Jack is certainly the most particular man I ever saw when it comes to getting for a customer just what he (the customer) wants.

Baltimore, Md., April 4.—Former Congressman William H. Jackson, 75 years old, died yesterday at his home in Salisbury, Md.

The Alleged Oath of the Knights of Columbus.

SPEECH
OF
HON. WILLIAM KETTNER
OF CALIFORNIA,
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
January 29, 1915.

Mr. KETTNER. Mr. Chairman, in this morning's mail I received a pamphlet from California dealing with a subject that has engrossed my attention for some time past. It deals with the report of four very prominent citizens of my State, all Free Masons, and activeIn that fraternal order.

These four men, than whom none stand higher for probity and honor in the State of California, and who are known throughout the State for their adherence to the highest standards of personal integrity, have just made a report on the ceremonies and ritual of the Knights of Columbus.

As a thirty-third degree Mason and a working member of the Masonic order, I esteem it a privilege to present this report of these distinguished and fair-minded men on a subject which has been grossly misrepresented, and has caused religious bitterness and strife. I believe in justice and fair play. In the Sixty-second Congress the Committee on Elections No. 3, in a certain contested election case, incorporated in their report (H. Rept. No. 1524) an alleged oath or obligation of the Knights of Columbus, the publication of the said alleged oath being in connection with a contest for membership in this body. This alleged oath, which can be found in the bound Congressional Record of the Sixty-second Congress, third session, page 3215, was used to the detriment of the Knights of Columbus, whose critics pointed to the publication in the Congressional Record of the alleged oath as sort of proof of its genuineness. The alleged oath having found publication in the Congressional Record, I think it but fair that this report dealing with the oath of the Knights of Columbus by this distinguished Masonic committee should likewise be given the same prominence.

LOS ANGELES INVESTIGATION.

The following letters need no explanation:

Hon. Paul J. McCormick,
Court House, Los Angeles.

My Dear Judge: I take pleasure in handing you herewith the findings of the committee of Free Masons to whom you exhibited the ceremonials and pledges of the Order of Knights of Columbus.

I am very glad that I have been able, in a measure, to secure this refutation of a slanderous lie which has been widely circulated and which has been disseminated in many cases by well meaning, credulous and deluded persons.

I shall see to it that this report has wide circulation among Masons, and you may use it in any way you deem best to bring about an understanding of the truth among men who, above all controversies and contentions, desire to know and to follow that which is right and true. Yours, cordially,

W. R. HERVEY.

October 9, 1914.

We hereby certify that by authority of the highest officer of the Knights of Columbus in the State of California, who acted under instructions from the supreme officer of the order in the United States, we were furnished a complete copy of all the work, ceremonies, and pledges used by the order, and that we carefully read, discussed, and examined the same. We found that while the order is in a sense a secret association, it is not an oath-bound organization, and that its ceremonies are comprised in four degrees, which are intended to teach and inculcate principles that lie at the foundation of every great religion and every free State. Our examination of these ceremonials and obligations was made primarily for the purpose of ascertaining whether or not a certain alleged oath of the Knights of Columbus, which has been printed and widely circulated, was in fact used by the order, and whether if it was not used, any oath, obligation or pledge was used which was or would be offensive to Protestants or Masons, or those who are engaged in circulating a document of peculiar viciousness and wickedness. We find that neither the alleged oath nor any oath or pledge bearing the remotest resemblance thereto in matter, manner, spirit or purpose is used or forms a part of the ceremonies of any degree of the Knights of Columbus. The alleged oath is scurrilous, wicked, and libelous, and must be the invention of an impious and venomous mind. We find that the order of Knights of Columbus, as shown by its rituals, is dedicated to the Catholic religion, charity, and patriotism. There is no propaganda proposed or taught against Protestants or Masons or persons not of Catholic faith. Indeed, Protestants or Masons are not referred to directly or indirectly in the ceremonials and pledges. The ceremonial of the order teaches a high and noble patriotism, instills a love of country, inculcates a reverence for law and order, urges the conscientious and unselfish performance of civic duty, and holds up the Constitution of our country as the richest and most precious possession of a knight of the order. We can find nothing in the entire ceremonials of the order that to our minds could be objected to by any person.
